COPPER STRIKE INQUIRY CLOSED

HOUGHTON GRAND JURY REPORT TODAY

State Historical and Natural History Society

Probably Will Ask Deportation of President Moyer of United Miners

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 14.—Findings of the special grand jury which has been inquiring into the lawlessness in the copper strike region will be returned in court tomorrow morning. This announcement was made tonight by George Nichols, the special prosecutor in charge of the branch of the state's judicial machinery.

No intimation was forthcoming as to whether any true bills would be included in the report at this time. Observations of the last few days, however, make it practically certain that some indictments will be given out. Most of these, it is expected, will be secret until the individuals named therein have been apprehended.

There also is a possibility that the grand jury will include in its presentment some reference to the deportation of Charles H. Moyer president and Charles Tanner, auditor of the Western Federation of Miners. Hints were thrown out that indictments had been voted against two men alleged to have been concerned in that episode and it was reported that they were ready to stand trial and in effect, assume entire responsibility for the affair.

The other terms are expected to embrace charges of varying degree against certain members of the Western Federation of Miners. Practically every man who has been in charge of union activities is prepared to face this possibility.

Work Still Incomplete.

The returns will be made before Judge P. H. O'Brien of the circuit court. He arrived tonight, having meanwhile adjourned the hearing of strike cases at L'Anse.

That the grand jury work is only partially [illegible] is evidenced by the fact that additional witnesses have been summoned to testify tomorrow. Then, too, one of the indictment cases involves the killing of three [illegible] yet passed the coroner's inquest.

Largely because of the slowness of the local authorities in acting on this affair, British-Americans have been urging the British ambassador at Washington to call upon the federal government for action. It was announced here that the grand lodge of the Sons of St. George has sent a letter of this tenor to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice the epistle having resulted from representations made by the local branches of the order.

There was renewed rioting in the village of Ahmeek in Keweenaw county tonight. As a result of the clash between deputies and strikers, 20 men and one woman were arrested and charged with violating the circuit court's injunction against picketing. The prisoners were released on their own recognizances.

The trouble occurred in front of the union store and under similar circumstances to the disturbances of 24 hours before. Nonunion workmen were jeered as they were returning from work and the mounted deputies escorting them thereupon attempted to disperse the crowd. One shot was fired, supposedly by a deputy, but no one was hit.

ALASKAN RAILROAD BILLS ARE FAVORED

Supporters Believe Federal Railroad Measures Will Pass Next Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Congress learned much of the resources of Alaska today, both houses devoting most of their time in debate on bills for government railroad from the coast to the interior of the territory.

With maps and pointer, Senator Walsh of Montana held the floor in the senate, supporting the Chamberlain bill, while Delegate Wickersham of Alaska championed in the house a similar measure introduced by himself.

Supporters of the project thought tonight the bills would pass both houses early next week.

Estimating that the government would need at least 200,000 tons of coal annually on the Pacific for naval purposes, Senator Walsh said the cost of transporting this amount of coal from Atlantic ports would amount to more than $1,500,000, the greater part of that sum going to foreign ship owners. With the building of only 25 miles of railroad to the Bering coal fields of Alaska this could be saved, he said, and the cost of construction repaid in one year's economy.

Delegate Wickersham told the house that lobbyists for the Guggenheim interests in Alaska had been in Washington working against his bill.

"There never has been an effort to do anything for Alaska when that same bunch of pirates was not here, lobbying against it," he said. "I know them well. I have seen them here for 10 years."

Representative Murdock of Kansas, Progressive leader in the house, announced that the Progressives would support the bill as a progressive measure.

MRS. LEE MADE CHAIRMAN STATE DEMOCRATIC BODY

First Time in History of Party in Colorado That Woman Has Held Office

DENVER, Jan. 14.—Through the appointment of George T. Bradley of Ouray to the position of state railroad [illegible], which occurred tonight, [illegible] By virtue of a [illegible] law Bradley was compelled to resign his position as chairman of the central committee and Mrs. Lee, vice chairman, assumed the executive duties of the party and will retain them at least until the next state campaign.

Mrs. Lee was a presidential elector from Colorado at the last national election and has been prominent in Democratic politics in Denver for many years. Bradley in retiring spoke highly of Mrs. Lee's ability to perform the duties of her new office.

Bradley also resigned his office as state pure food and drug commissioner. This vacancy will be filled by the state board of health.

The appointment of Bradley as state railroad commissioner now gives representation to the central, southern and western parts of the state on the commission.

COMMERCE COMMISSION RESUMES COAL HEARING

Testimony Given Relates to Relations Between Companies and Railroads

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—The interstate commerce commission today resumed its inquiry into the anthracite coal industry with reference to rates and practices existing among the railroad and coal companies. The hearings were begun last November and were suspended until today because of the death of Commissioner John H. Marble. Commissioner C. C. McChord will conduct the hearings.

Testimony today related largely to the practices obtaining in the anthracite business as conducted by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, a subsidiary of the Central Railroad company of New Jersey and the Susquehanna Coal company in which the Pennsylvania Railroad company holds a controlling interest.

Witnesses testified that mining companies affiliated with the Pennsylvania railroad and with the Northern Central railway, which is operated by the Pennsylvania, were unable to pay the royalties called for in their leases because they did not earn them.

One of the principal witnesses was Michael F. Burns president of a coal company which it was brought out does a business of 2,750,000 tons a year in New York. He was called by the commission to develop whether his concern favored by any of the coal carrying roads or railroad coal companies. Mr. Burns testified that his company was on a parity with all other coal dealers in New York. He said there was a time when coal dealers were getting rebates from coal carrying railroads but that no rebates are now given.

VIVID TALES OF ERUPTION BEING TOLD

Survivors of Earthquake in Japan Draw Graphic Pictures of Horror

VOLCANOES ARE QUIETING

Rescue Parties Not Yet Able to Land on Island; Loss of Life Unknown

HITOYOSHI, Japan, Jan. 15.—A refugee from Sakura gives a graphic picture of the overwhelming of villages by earthquake and eruptions.

"The earthquakes began on Sunday," he said, "and the people spent a fearful night. In the morning, flaming boulders descended and set fire to the houses. Women and children fled and were followed by the men. Red-hot ashes blinded and burned them.

"There were no boats on shore and most of the fugitives had to wait the coming of rescuers, others, with lamentations, flung themselves into the sea. Many of the aged refused to leave, crying that they preferred to die in the home of their ancestors. One by one, swimmers were drowned or killed.

"Pumice stone and lava spurted from the craters; a scarlet vapor obscured the heavens; the roar of the volcanoes was like the sound of a thousand thunders. The whole island shook and oscillated like a swinging paper lantern. Plants and trees withered and whitened mounds of ashes formed before us.

"The earth itself reared like a wild horse and knocked us down, poisonous gases choked our nostrils, and cattle charged, instinctively seeking the sea."

Many of the inhabitants who fled from Kagoshima yesterday returned today to seek for their homes, but found them in ruins. A great hole had opened in the side of the city. Sakura-Jima still threw out vast [illegible] A police boat sighted the island and many [illegible] of this [illegible] the shores, burned and mutilated. Thousands of cattle were dead on the beaches or floating in the water.

Another Vivid Description.

NAGASAKI, Japan, Jan. 14.—A vivid description of the awe-inspiring scene on the island of Sakura during the eruption and tidal wave of Monday was given today by the captain of a Japanese steamer which arrived here from Kagoshima. The captain rescued 300 persons.

"It was perilous to approach the land," he said, "as columns of water burst up continually from the gulf, while on land pillars of fire rose into the air from the acres of blazing sugar cane. At the same time people and cattle ran pellmell toward the beach in a wild effort to escape.

"The steamers in the gulf lowered rowboats to pick up the hundreds of people who were drifting helplessly on rafts or swimming while holding onto planks or pieces of timber. All were uttering piteous cries.

"Hundreds stood along the shore, unable to find any means of escape. Some of them waved towels and clothing attached to bamboo poles, in order to attract attention. Many of the people were only half-conscious, suffering from burns or injuries.

TERMS OF MILITIA PAY BILL FAVORED

Adjutants General From 30 States Agree to Proposed Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary Garrison and adjutants general representing the national guard organizations of more than 30 states agreed today upon the terms of the proposed military pay bill under which the federal government would provide pay for militiamen who in turn would enlist as federal reservists" subject to the call of the president to duty either within the United States or abroad.

It is proposed that the militia bill shall provide an annual appropriation of $14,000,000. Of this $4,000,000 would be expended for encampment and manoeuver purposes, $5,000,000 as a home service pay and $2,500,000 for armament and equipment.

Secretary Garrison will lay a draft on the measure before President Wilson with an explanation of what the federal government may expect in return for the money appropriated.

The committee which conferred with Secretary Garrison today consisted of Brigadier General Martin, Texas; Brigadier General Stewart, Pennsylvania; Brigadier General Sadler, New Jersey, and Brigadier General Young of Illinois. Brigadier General Crowder, judge advocate general of the army, and Brigadier General Mills, chief of the division of militia affairs, were present.

SEVERE COLD SPELL IN EAST IS BROKEN

Rising Temperatures Abate Suffering of Hundreds Along Coast

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Relief from the most severe cold spell this city has experienced in 15 years was in sight tonight. Rising temperatures abated the suffering in the streets but during the day the weather was so cold that six persons succumbed to exposure, bringing the death list for the city and vicinity up to 13 since the frigid wave arrived early yesterday.

The mercury rose from five degrees below zero at 2 o'clock this morning to 19 above at 5 o'clock this afternoon, then it turned colder and four hours later stood at 13 above with prospect, however, that it would not drop more than another three or four degrees during the night.

Directly due to the cold the fire department had one of the busiest days in its history, responding to more than 30 alarms. Water pipes were frozen in homes all over the city and many fires were caused by attempts to thaw them out.

More than a thousand persons, including the inmates of two Bowery lodging houses, were driven to the streets. The fire situation became so serious during the day that engines were put to work thawing out frozen hydrants.

The homeless descended upon the lodging houses again tonight, thousands being cared for there and at missions. Mayor Mitchel considered hiring Madison Square garden and turning it and the city armories over to the suffering if the usual sheltering places became overcrowded. As one measure of relief, the mayor directed the street cleaning department to put the jobless men to work tomorrow, paving them sufficient wages to enable them to buy clothing and food until the weather moderates.

The victims of the cold today were men and women past middle age.

COLORADO SOIL IDEAL FOR GREAT HIGHWAYS

John A. Whitaker, Government Engineer, Likes Looks of Roads Through State; Gives Address Today

John A. Whitaker of Washington, D. C., [illegible] highway engineer in the office of public roads under the department of agriculture, who will deliver an address on "Improvement Construction and Maintenance of Public Highways," before the Colorado Good Roads convention tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, arrived in Colorado Springs last night and is registered at the Antlers hotel. In speaking of the question of public roads Mr. Whitaker said:

"The chief concern of the good roads enthusiast is not so much the construction of the highway, but the maintenance of the road after it is completed," he said. "The problem of securing funds for the building and maintaining of roads varies with the locality. In the east the problem is widely different from that in the west. But here there are still many public lands and forest reserves from which revenue for keeping up roads may be obtained. In the east all land is settled and under private ownership.

"In Massachusetts, for instance, the levy per mile for road maintenance is fixed at $50 per township through which the road passes. Here it would be impossible to put into effect any fixed amount per county, for here some of the counties are almost as big as the whole state of Massachusetts, and the population is scattered to such a degree that the levy would not fall equally on all."

Mr. Whitaker is connected with the public roads office of the government, which details men on request to communities to give advice concerning the building and maintenance of roads.

"I have never been in Colorado to stop, but from what I could see of the roads of the state from the train the soil is ideal for good roads. Of course, the amount of traffic is a big factor in determining the kind of surface to give a road. The gravel which appears to be in the soil here should hold up well under travel."

When asked concerning the movement throughout the country for national highways he remarked:

"The automobile will [illegible] has changed the traffic problem of the world. More people now travel from place to place than ever before, due to the fact that they own cars. The states generally have come to recognize the commercial importance of the traffic over their roads and on that account have awakened to the necessity of building and improving roads. I do not know just how fast the permanent national routes will come. The nature of mankind which wants all good things to come his way has led to much confusion in the establishing of national highways. Each community wants the road to come through its boundaries."

Bolivian Minister and Bryan Agree on Treaty

Secretary Bryan and Senor Don Ignacio Calderon, Bolivian minister today agreed upon the terms of a treaty providing that any question between the United States and Bolivia which cannot be settled by diplomatic shall be submitted for investigation to an international commission of five members.

STRIKERS STILL DEFYING POLICE

SOUTH AFRICANS WILL FIGHT TO LAST

Authorities Will Starve 300 Men Barricaded Within Trades Hall

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Jan. 14. The siege of Trades hall, where Secretary Bain of the Federation of Trades and a band of supporters are defying the police from behind barricades, was the main feature of the strike drama today.

After the hall had been attacked by police and detectives without avail great crowds gathered and the police were compelled to make several bayonet charges owing to the aggressive attitude of the people, many of whom were slightly injured.

With the final bayonet charge the police cleared the neighborhood and a cordon of officers with fixed bayonets was thrown around the hall. The position of the besieged Bain and his friends is serious as they are cut off from water.

Bain came out of the hall this evening and strolled nonchalantly about the cleared space in view of the police and reentered the hall without any attempt being made to arrest him. The police commander explained he had no intention of again making an assault on the hall as he considered the 300 men in it as good as in jail. The besieged have been able to get food from nearby restaurants.

A bomb explosion occurred today at Benone, slightly injuring three mounted troopers. Several strikers arrested near the place were rescued by their comrades but were subsequently rearrested.

Maintain Railway Service.

The Transvaal railway authorities are maintaining a partial service and are attempting to insure an adequate supply of food and fuel. The bakers are directed not to strike for the present, but they refuse to bake for the police, troops or special constables. One firm, however, has declined to be bound by this agreement.

The miners continue to stop work as fast as their regular shifts end. The department of mines announces that it will keep the mines running and has no intention of sending the natives home.

A correspondent who passed the strikers' pickets by aid of a permit found a remarkable scene inside Trades hall tonight. The 300 inmates were all fully armed. They expressed determination to resist any attack. The windows and doors were barricaded with boxes filled with bricks. Openings were left for rifle fire. Other boxes were filled with ammunition.

The defenders are subsisting chiefly on fruit, quantities of which are stored in the hall. They also have some stale bread. Many of the men were dressed only in trousers and boots. It was evident from their gaunt, hungry faces that they were already suffering hardships from the siege. They stoutly asserted, however, that the hall would not be taken until all their ammunition was exhausted and not a bar of iron was left to wield.

From without could be heard the clang of arms and orders directing citizens away from the danger zone.

A detective named McBride was caught by the pickets approaching the doorway and was beaten.

WILSON TALKS ON ANTITRUST REFORM PLAN

President Outlines His Idea to Both Senate and House Committees

MEMBERS FAVOR PROGRAM

Interstate Trade Commission With Limited Powers to Be Created

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Wilson took into his confidence today on the subject of antitrust reform the Democratic members of the senate committee on interstate commerce and a subcommittee of the house judiciary committee.

With these committees which will be in charge of antitrust legislation the president spent several hours reading his forthcoming message and pointing out the general lines along which he believes trust legislation should be framed. From the conference the following program was assured.

Prohibition of interlocking directorates in banks, trust companies and allied industrial corporations.

Elimination of uncertainty as to what constitutes a restraint of trade under the Sherman law through specific definition of monopolies and trusts, so that there can be no "reasonable" restraint of trade.

The removal of all possibility of "immunity baths" for offending corporations or individuals.

Establishment of an interstate trade commission which would take over the bureau of corporations, serve as an auxiliary to the courts and department of justice and act as a bureau of information to which the business world could direct inquiries, but which would have no power of granting immunity or of regulation.

Provision in every case of penalties based on individual responsibility and personal guilt.

The conferences were devoted largely to generalities. The president did most of the talking, with occasional interruptions from his visitors. Details were left to the committees themselves to work out in cooperation with the president, the department of justice and the department of commerce.

The president impressed his desire that the task be approached in a friendly rather than a hostile spirit toward the business world, and expressed a hope for a common agreement not only among members of the two committees, but of leaders in congress generally who have been active in pressing antitrust measures.

Although senators and members of the house would not discuss the details of the message, there was a general expression of approval of its contents.

"We just had a discussion of the general object with the president," said Chairman Clayton of the house committee. "He read us his message and we entered into a discussion afterward of the problem of interlocking directorates. We did not finish it and will have another conference soon."

Wilson's Views Accepted

ROADS ENTHUSIASTS TO OPEN SESSIONS TODAY

Delegates From All Parts of State as Well as Outside Experts Here for Big Convention

The first session of the two-day meeting of the fourth annual convention of the Colorado Good Roads association will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the ball room of the Antlers hotel, where all sessions will be held. Many delegates arrived last night as did some of the principal speakers and indications point to a large attendance.

The convention will be one of the most important ever held in the state. This is because Colorado is now facing the problem of devising some means of insuring the continuation of its system of state aid for road building. After January 1, 1915 the fund available for state aid to the counties is less than $5,000 per county. This is insufficient to carry on the work as now outlined and under way. Unless something is done during the present year to furnish the proper financial aid to continue road work in Colorado, no measure can be enacted for this purpose which would become effective before 1916.

Half Mill Levy Is Proposed.

It has been proposed that a bill providing for a half mill levy for road building purposes be initiated. Such a measure is favored in many of the counties of the state, and the southern counties of Colorado at a recent convention in Pueblo passed resolutions asking the Colorado Good Roads association take up this question.

This matter will be thoroughly discussed today and tomorrow and on the decision of the convention will depend the future action to be taken.

The program for today and tomorrow is as follows:

Today, 10 A. M.

Convention called to order by Charles R. McClain of Cañon City, vice chairman.

Invocation, President W. F. Slocum of Colorado college.

Reading of reports of president and secretary-treasurer.

Address by E. M. Ammons, governor of Colorado.

Appointment of committees, legislation, organization.

Resolutions and credentials committees.

Adjournment.

Today, 2 P. M.

Convention called to order.

History of Road Building in Colorado, by Frank L. Bartlett, Denver.

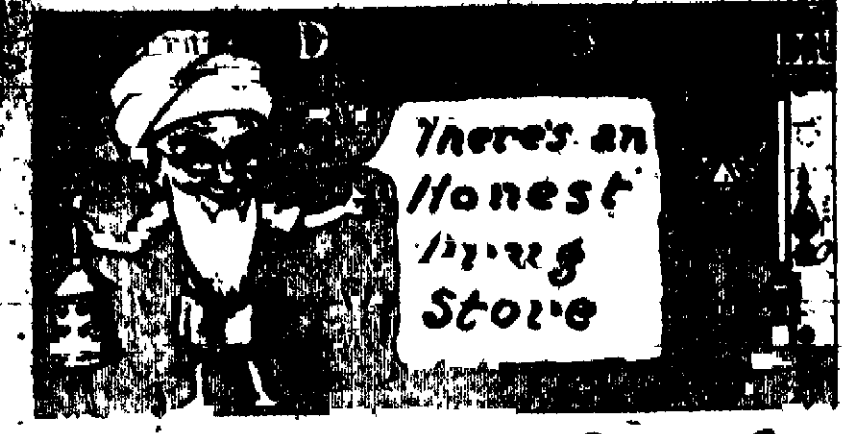

The Work of the State Highway Commission, by J. E. Malcolm, Denver, secretary of the commission.

Reports from county commissioners regarding work of the last year. These reports will be given as the roll is called, and will be limited to three minutes each.

How to Finance Good Road Building. Bond Issue vs. the Mill Levy.

MRS. BELFORD HONORED BY COLORADO WOMEN

DENVER, Jan. 13.—Forty-five organizations of Denver women, aided by delegates from similar organizations throughout Colorado, united today in celebrating the seventy-fifth birthday of Mrs. James B. Belford, widow of the late Congressman Belford. The occasion was given an official setting by the presence of Governor E. M. Ammons, supreme court judges and other state officials. The women's organizations presented to Mrs. Belford a jeweled watch and chain, bearing the inscription.

"To the most beloved woman in Colorado."

Mrs Belford, for years a state leader in movements for the advancement of women, is credited by her friends with having been the first person to suggest the project of the Lincoln highway. At the birthday celebration today, plans were made to raise a fund for the erection of a Frances Belford memorial drinking fountain at some point on the highway.

COPPER STRIKE INQUIRY CLOSED

HOUGHTON GRAND JURY REPORT TODAY

State Historical and Natural History Society

Probably Will Take Up Deportation of President Moyer of United Miners

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 14.—Findings of the special grand jury which has been inquiring into the lawlessness in the copper strike region will be returned in court tomorrow morning. This announcement was made tonight by George Nochols, the special prosecutor in charge of the branch of the state's judicial machinery.

No intimation was forthcoming as to whether any true bills would be included in the report at this time. Observations of the last few days, however, make it practically certain that some indictments will be given out. Most of these, it is expected, will be secret until the individuals named therein have been apprehended.

There also is a possibility that the grand jury will include in its presentment some reference to the deportation of Charles H Moyer president and Charles Tanner, and or of the Western Federation of Miners. Hints were thrown out that indictments had been voted against two men alleged to have been concerned in that episode and it was reported that they were ready to stand trial and in effect, assume entire responsibility for the affair.

The other terms are expected to embrace charges of varying degree against certain members of the Western Federation of Miners. Practically every man who has been in charge of union activities is prepared to face this possibility.

Work Still Incomplete.

The returns will be made before Judge P H O'Brien of the circuit court. He arrived tonight, having meanwhile adjourned the hearing of strike cases at L'Anse.

That the grand jury work is only partially [illegible] by the fact that additional witnesses have been summoned to testify [illegible]. Then, too, one of the [illegible] yet passed the coroner's [illegible].

Largely [illegible] of the [illegible] of the local authorities in acting on this affair, British-Americans have been urging the British ambassador at Washington to call upon the federal government for action. It was announced here that the grand lodge of the Sons of St George has sent a letter of this tenor to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the epistle having resulted from representations made by the local branches of the order.

There was renewed rioting in the village of Ahmeek in Keweenaw county tonight. As a result of the clash between deputies and strikers, 20 men and one woman were arrested and charged with violating the circuit court's injunction against picketing. The prisoners were released on their own recognizances.

The trouble occurred in front of the union store and under similar circumstances to the disturbances of 24 hours before. Nonunion workmen were jeered as they were returning from work and the mounted deputies escorting them thereupon attempted to disperse the crowd. One shot was fired supposedly by a deputy, but no one was hit.

ALASKAN RAILROAD BILLS ARE FAVORED

Supporters Believe Federal Railroad Measures Will Pass Next Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Congress learned much of the resources of Alaska today, both houses devoting most of their time in debate on bills for government railroad from the coast to the interior of the territory.

With maps and pointer, Senator Walsh of Montana held the floor in the senate, supporting the Chamberlain bill, while Delegate Wickersham of Alaska championed in the house a similar measure introduced by himself.

Supporters of the project thought tonight the bills would pass both houses early next week.

Estimating that the government would need at least 300,000 tons of coal annually on the Pacific for naval purposes, Senator Walsh said the cost of transporting this amount of coal from Atlantic ports would amount to more than $1,500,000, the greater part of that sum going to foreign ship owners. With the building of only 25 miles of railroad to the Bering coal fields of Alaska this could be saved, he said, and the cost of construction repaid in one year's economy.

Delegate Wickersham told the house that lobbyists for the Guggenheim interests in Alaska had been in Washington working against his bill.

"There never has been an effort to do anything for Alaska when that same bunch of pirates was not here, lobbying against it," he said. "I know them well. I have seen them here for 10 years."

Representative Murdock of Kansas, Progressive leader in the house, announced that the Progressives would support the bill as a progressive measure.

MRS. LEE MADE CHAIRMAN STATE DEMOCRATIC BODY

First Time in History of Party in Colorado That Woman Has Held Office

DENVER, Jan. 14.—Through the appointment of George T. Bradley of Ouray to the position of state railroad [illegible] committee and Mrs. Lee, vice chairman, assumed the executive duties of the party and will retain them at least until the next state campaign.

Mrs. Lee was a presidential elector from Colorado at the last national election and has been prominent in Democratic politics in Denver for many years. Bradley in retiring spoke highly of Mrs. Lee's ability to perform the duties of her new office.

Bradley also resigned his office as state pure food and drug commissioner. This vacancy will be filled by the state board of health.

The appointment of Bradley as state railroad commissioner now gives representation to the central, southern and western parts of the state on the commission.

COMMERCE COMMISSION RESUMES COAL HEARING

Testimony Given Relates to Relations Between Companies and Railroads

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—The interstate commerce commission today resumed its inquiry into the anthracite coal industry with reference to rates and practices existing among the railroad and coal companies. The hearings were begun last November and were suspended until today because of the death of Commissioner John H Marble. Commissioner C. C. McChord will conduct the hearings.

Testimony today related largely to the practices obtaining in the anthracite business as conducted by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, a subsidiary of the Central Railroad company of New Jersey and the Susquehanna Coal company in which the Pennsylvania Railroad company holds a controlling interest.

Witnesses testified that mining companies affiliated with the Pennsylvania railroad and with the Northern Central railway, which is operated by the Pennsylvania, were unable to pay the royalties called for in their leases because they did not earn them.

One of the principal witnesses was Michael F Burns, president of a coal company which it was brought out, does a business of 2,750,000 tons a year in New York. He was called by the commission to develop whether his concern favored by any of the coal carrying roads or railroad coal companies. Mr Burns testified that his company was on a parity with all other coal dealers in New York. He said there was a time when coal dealers were getting rebates from coal carrying railroads but that no rebates are now given.

VIVID TALES OF ERUPTION BEING TOLD

Survivors of Earthquake in Japan Draw Graphic Pictures of Horror

VOLCANOES ARE QUIETING

Rescue Parties Not Yet Able to Land on Island; Loss of Life Unknown

HITOYOSHI, Japan, Jan. 15.—A refugee from Sakura gives a graphic picture of the overwhelming of villages by earthquake and eruptions.

"The earthquake began on Sunday," he said, "and the people spent a fearful night. In the morning, flaming boulders descended and set fire to the houses. Women and children fled and were followed by the men. Red-hot ashes blinded and burned them.

"There were no boats on shore and most of the fugitives had to wait the coming of rescuers, others, with lamentations, flung themselves into the sea. Many of the aged refused to leave, crying that they preferred to die in the home of their ancestors. One by one, swimmers were drowned or killed.

"Pumice stone and lava spurted from the craters; a scarlet vapor obscured the heavens; the roar of the volcanoes was like the sound of a thousand thunders. The whole island shook and oscillated like a swinging paper lantern. Plants and trees withered and whitened mounds of ashes formed before us.

"The earth itself reared like a wild horse and knocked us down, poisonous gases choked our nostrils, and cattle charged, instinctively seeking the sea."

Many of the inhabitants who fled from Kagoshima yesterday returned today to seek for their homes, but found them in ruins. A great hole had opened in the side of the city. Sakura-Jima still threw out vast [illegible] shore, burned and [illegible] ends of cattle were dived on the bunches of floating in the water.

Another Vivid Description.

NAGASAKI, Japan, Jan. 14.—A vivid description of the awe-inspiring scene on the island of Sakura during the eruption and tidal wave of Monday was given today by the captain of a Japanese steamer which arrived here from Kagoshima. The captain rescued 300 persons.

"It was perilous to approach the land," he said, "as columns of water burst up continually from the gulf, while on land pillars of fire rose into the air from the acres of blazing sugar cane. At the same time people and cattle ran pellmell toward the beach in a wild effort to escape.

"The steamers in the gulf lowered rowboats to pick up the hundreds of people who were drifting helplessly on rafts or swimming while holding onto planks or pieces of timber. All were uttering piteous cries.

"Hundreds stood along the shore, unable to find any means of escape. Some of them waved towels and cloth ing attached to bamboo poles, in order to attract attention. Many of the people were only half-conscious, suffering from burns or injuries.

TERMS OF MILITIA PAY BILL FAVORED

Adjutants General From 30 States Agree to Proposed Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary Garrison and adjutants generals representing the national guard organizations of more than 30 states agreed today upon the terms of the proposed military pay bill under which the federal government would provide pay for militiamen who in turn would enlist as federal reservists" subject to the call of the president to duty either within the United States or abroad.

It is proposed that the militia bill shall provide an annual appropriation of $14,500,000. Of this $4,000,000 would be expended for encampment and maneuver purposes, $5,000,000 for home service pay and $2,500,000 for armament and equipment.

Secretary Garrison will lay a draft on the measure before President Wilson with an explanation of what the federal government may expect in return for the money appropriated.

The committee which conferred with Secretary Garrison today consisted of Brigadier General Martin, Texas; Brigadier General Stewart, Pennsylvania; Brigadier General Sadler, New Jersey, and Brigadier General Young of Illinois, Brigadier General Crowder, judge advocate general of the army and Brigadier General Mills, chief of the division of militia affairs, were present.

SEVERE COLD SPELL IN EAST IS BROKEN

Rising Temperatures Abate Suffering of Hundreds Along Coast

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Relief from the most severe cold spell this city has experienced in 15 years was in sight tonight. Rising temperatures abated the suffering in the streets but during the day the weather was so cold that six persons succumbed to exposure, bringing the death list for the city and vicinity up to 13 since the frigid wave arrived early yesterday.

The mercury rose from five degrees below zero at 2 o'clock this morning to 19 above at 5 o'clock this afternoon, then it turned colder and four hours later stood at 13 above with prospect, however, that it would not drop more than another three or four degrees during the night.

Directly due to the cold the fire department had one of the busiest days in its history, responding to more than 30 alarms. Water pipes were frozen in homes all over the city and many fires were caused by attempts to thaw them out.

More than a thousand persons, including the inmates of two Bowery lodging houses, were driven to the streets. The fire situation became so serious during the day that engines were put to work thawing out frozen hydrants.

The homeless descended upon the lodging houses again tonight, thousands being cared for there and at missions. Mayor Mitchel considered hiring Madison Square garden and turning it and the city armories over to the suffering if the usual sheltering places became overcrowded. As one measure of relief, the mayor directed the street cleaning department to put the jobless men to work tomorrow, paying them sufficient wages to enable them to buy clothing and food until the weather moderates.

The victims of the cold today were men and women past middle age.

COLORADO SOIL IDEAL FOR GREAT HIGHWAYS

John A. Whitaker, Government Engineer, Likes Looks of Roads Through State; Gives Address Today

John A. Whitaker of Washington, D. C., [illegible] in the office of public roads under the department of agriculture, who will deliver an address on "Improvement, Construction and Maintenance of Public Highways," before the Colorado Good Roads convention tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, arrived in Colorado Springs last night and is registered at the Antlers hotel. In speaking of the question of public roads Mr. Whitaker said:

"The chief concern of the good roads enthusiast is not so much the construction of the highway, but the maintenance of the road after it is completed," he said. "The problem of securing funds for the building and maintaining of roads varies with the locality. In the east the problem is widely different from that in the west. Out here there are still many public lands and forest reserves from which revenue for keeping up roads may be obtained. In the east all land is settled and under private ownership.

"In Massachusetts, for instance, the levy per mile for road maintenance is fixed at $50 per township through which the road passes. Here it would be impossible to put into effect any fixed amount per county, for here some of the counties are almost as big as the whole state of Massachusetts, and the population is scattered to such a degree that the levy would not fall equally on all."

Mr Whitaker is connected with the public roads office of the government, which details men on request to communities to give advice concerning the building and maintenance of roads.

"I have never been in Colorado to stop, but from what I could see of the roads of the state from the train the soil is ideal for good roads. Of course the amount of traffic is a big factor in determining the kind of surface to give a road. The gravel which appears to be in the soil here should hold up well under travel."

When asked concerning the movement throughout the country for national highways he remarked:

"The automobile will and has changed the traffic problem of the world. More people now travel from place to place than ever before, due to the fact that they own cars. The states generally have come to recognize the commercial importance of the traffic over their roads and on that account have awakened to the necessity of building and improving roads. I do not know just how fast the permanent national routes will come. The nature of mankind which wants all good things to come his way has led to much confusion in the establishing of national highways. Each community wants the road to come through its boundaries."

Bolivian Minister and Bryan Agree on Treaty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary Bryan and Senor Don Ignacio Calderon, Bolivian minister, today agreed upon the terms of a treaty providing that any question between the United States and Bolivia which cannot be settled by diplomatic shall be submitted for investigation to an international commission of five members.

STRIKERS STILL DEFYING POLICE

SOUTH AFRICANS WILL FIGHT TO LAST

Authorities Will Starve 300 Men Barricaded Within Trades Hall

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Jan. 14.—The siege of Trades hall where Secretary Bain of the Federation of Trades and a band of supporters are defying the police from behind barricades was the main feature of the strike drama today.

After the hall had been attacked by police and detectives without avail great crowds gathered and the police were compelled to make several bayonet charges owing to the aggressive attitude of the people, many of whom were slightly injured.

With the final bayonet charge the police cleared the neighborhood and a cordon of officers with fixed bayonets was thrown around the hall. The position of the besieged Bain and his friends is serious as they are cut off from water.

Bain came out of the hall this evening and strolled nonchalantly about the cleared space in view of the police and reentered the hall without any attempt being made to arrest him. The police commander explained he had no intention of again making an assault on the hall as he considered the 300 men in it as good as in jail. The besieged have been able to get food from nearby restaurants.

A bomb explosion occurred today at Benone, slightly injuring three mounted troopers. Several strikers arrested near the place were rescued by their comrades but were subsequently rearrested.

Maintain Railway Service.

The Transvaal railway authorities are maintaining a partial service and are attempting to insure an adequate supply of food and fuel. The bakers are directed not to strike for the present, but they refuse to bake for the police, troops or special constables. One firm, however, has declined to be bound by this agreement.

The miners continue to stop work as fast as their regular shifts end. The department of mines announces that it will keep the mines running and has no intention of sending the natives home.

A correspondent who [illegible] found a remarkable scene inside Trades hall tonight. The 300 inmates were all fully armed. They expressed determination to resist any attack. The windows and doors were barricaded with boxes filled with bricks. Openings were left for rifle fire. Other boxes were filled with ammunition.

The defenders are subsisting chiefly on fruit, quantities of which are stored in the hall. They also have some stale bread. Many of the men were dressed only in trousers and boots. It was evident from their gaunt, hungry faces that they were already suffering hardships from the siege. They stoutly asserted, however, that the hall would not be taken until all their ammunition was exhausted and not a bar of iron was left to wield.

From without could be heard the clang of arms and orders directing citizens away from the danger zone.

A detective named McBride was caught by the pickets approaching the doorway and was beaten.

WILSON TALKS ON ANTITRUST REFORM PLAN

President Outlines His Idea to Both Senate and House Committees

MEMBERS FAVOR PROGRAM

Interstate Trade Commission With Limited Powers to Be Created

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Wilson took into his confidence today on the subject of antitrust reform the Democratic members of the senate committee on interstate commerce and a subcommittee of the house judiciary committee.

With these committees which will be in charge of antitrust legislation the president spent several hours reading his forthcoming message and pointing out the general lines along which he believes trust legislation should be framed. From the conference the following program was assured:

Prohibition of interlocking directorates in banks, trust companies and allied industrial corporations.

Elimination of uncertainty as to what constitutes a restraint of trade under the Sherman law through specific definition of monopolies and trusts, so that there can be no "reasonable" restraint of trade.

The removal of all possibility of "immunity baths" for offending corporations or individuals.

Establishment of an interstate trade commission which would take over the bureau of corporations, serve as an auxiliary to the courts and department of justice and act as a bureau of information to which the business world could direct inquiries, but which would have no power of granting immunity or of regulation.

Provision in every case of penalties based on individual responsibility and personal guilt.

The conferences were devoted largely to generalities. The president did most of the talking, with occasional interruptions from his visitors. Details were left to the committees themselves to work out in cooperation with the president, the department of justice and the department of commerce.

The president impressed his desire that the task be approached in a friendly rather than a hostile spirit toward the business world, and expressed a hope for a common agreement not only among members of the two committees but of leaders in congress generally who have been active in pressing antitrust measures.

Although senators and members of the house would not discuss the details of the message there was a general expression of approval of its contents.

"We just had a discussion of the general object with the president," said Chairman Clayton of the house committee. "He read us his message and we entered into a discussion afterward of the problem of interlocking directorates. We did not finish it and will have another conference soon."

Wilson's Views Accepted

Asked if the house subcommittee outlined to the president some of the

ROADS ENTHUSIASTS TO OPEN SESSIONS TODAY

Delegates From All Parts of State as Well as Outside Experts Here for Big Convention

The first session of the two-day meeting of the fourth annual convention of the Colorado Good Roads association will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the ball room of the Antlers hotel where all sessions will be held. Many delegates arrived last night as did some of the principal speakers and indications point to a large attendance.

The convention will be one of the most important ever held in the state. This is because Colorado is now facing the problem of devising some means of insuring the continuation of its system of state aid for road building. After January 1, 1915 the fund available for state aid to the counties is less than $1,000 per county. This is insufficient to carry on the work as now outlined and under way. Unless something is done during the present year to furnish the proper financial aid to continue road work in Colorado, no measure can be enacted for this purpose which would become effective before 1918.

Half Mill Levy Is Proposed.

It has been proposed that a bill providing for a half mill levy for road building purposes be initiated. Such a measure is favored in many of the counties of the state, and the southern counties of Colorado at a recent convention in Pueblo passed resolutions asking the Colorado Good Roads association to take up this question.

This matter will be thoroughly discussed today and tomorrow and on the decision of the convention will depend the future action to be taken.

The program for today and tomorrow is as follows:

Today, 10 A. M.

Convention called to order by Charles R McClain of Canon City, vice chairman.

Invocation, President W. F. Slocum of Colorado college.

Reading of reports of president and secretary-treasurer.

Address by E. M. Ammons, governor of Colorado.

Appointment of committees—legislation organization.

Resolutions and credentials if necessary.

Adjournment.

Today, 2 P. M.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 cents you can make your hair lustrous, fluffy, and abundant

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it. Adv.

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would bloat. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." – Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

A Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

[illegible] BONDS DISCONTENTED

European Powers May Ask U. S. to Take Action as Result of [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. Formal notice from the City of Mexico, through the American charge today that the suspension of the payment of interest on the Mexican national debt covers a period of six months only, was not regarded here as conveying much encouragement to the holders of Mexican bonds.

State department officials do not doubt that if the revolution still is in progress at the end of six months there will be another default for the same reason that brought about the present suspension of payments.

Discontent among European bondholders, it was suggested today, forebode a renewal of pressure from the European governments upon the United States to take action to safeguard the interests of their subjects in Mexico. At one of the embassies it was stated that it was out of the question for any of the European powers either individually or collectively to intervene in Mexico now that they have practically, if not formally, confided to the United States the protection of these interests, but that it was expected that the United States would take notice of the patent distress of these European interests.

Some administration officials are disposed to believe that General Huerta has deliberately held up these interest payments with the purpose of forcing intervention if possible. In their view the provisional president, at the [illegible] at the success of the Constitutionalists, prefers to yield to the United States government as an intervenor and thereby martyrize himself in the eyes of the Mexican people rather than to surrender the reins of power to his enemies.

Secretary Bryan spent an hour in conference with President Wilson today, a considerable part of the time being given up to a discussion of the situation in Mexico.

COLORADO-TO-GULF ROAD ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT

"Should Receive Hearty Support of Coloradoans," Says Pres. Friar of Association

One of the most important interstate auto roads from Colorado's point of view is the Colorado-to-the-Gulf highway running from Galveston, Tex., to Denver. The road will do more to bring tourists to Colorado and Colorado Springs than almost any of the other highways which pass through this city. The road starts at Galveston, traversing Texas and New Mexico to Trinidad and then through a series of Colorado towns, including Colorado Springs, to Denver.

Victor M. Friar, president of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highway association, and secretary of the Trinidad chamber of commerce, is here to attend the fourth annual convention of the Colorado Good Roads association today and tomorrow. In speaking of the road he said:

"Practically every bit of the route is in fine condition. The road runs through Raton Pass, the only mountain pass open for travel after the big snow storm last December. The majority of them have not been opened yet.

"The association is receiving enthusiastic support and in Texas almost $3,000,000 in bonds have been voted by the various counties toward the support of the highway. In Colorado the road is in good shape, but the support has not been as enthusiastic as it should be. I think the people here are beginning to realise that Colorado really will reap the great benefit from travel over this road and that soon they will give it their hearty support."

A meeting of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highway association will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 14.—A novel bank swindle, by which it was robbed of $1,750 on January 2 by a man giving the name of Shackleford T. Miller, was admitted today by the Fidelity National bank of this city.

Miller deposited $1,750 in the bank as a checking account last October. A few days later he changed it to a savings account On January 2 he called at the bank and withdrew all but the accumulated interest

When a new paying teller went on duty as luncheon relief, Miller again appeared at the window, presented a book that showed no withdrawals and was again paid $1,750 In the brief interval the first withdrawal had not been entered in the bank's books by the regular teller.

MERCADO WANTS TO RETURN AND FIGHT

Mexican Federal General Will Conform With Wishes of U. S., However

PRESIDIO, Tex., Jan. 14.—When informed today that the war department at Mexico City would request the United States to return to Mexico all the Mexican soldiers who were driven into this country by the rebels at Ojinaga, Mexico, Gen. Salvador Mercado said:

"We are in the hands of the United States It never was our purpose merely to retreat to this country for safety and then to return to fight again as soon as we had been well fed. I ordered our soldiers to cross the river on grounds of humanity. We had no ammunition with which to fight. A thousand women and children were with us. To have remained in Ojinaga would have meant massacre. What the United States will do with us I don't know, but I shall be glad to conform to the wishes of my government. I and my men are still soldiers."

The plans for the transportation of General Mercado, the 3,352 Mexican soldiers and officers and the 1,267 women and children refugees to Fort Bliss at El Paso, where they are to be held in custody indefinitely, were rushed today. As soon as they arrive at Marfa, the nearest railway station, they will be put on trains for El Paso. Gen. Hugh L. Scott informed Major McNamee, in charge of the border patrol here, that a permanent camp with ample tents, kitchens and living arrangements was provided at El Paso.

The Mexican soldiers are held virtually as prisoners. The women, known as camp followers, are the wives of the soldiers. They were permitted to accompany the exiled army as their own choice. The women are to do the cooking for the Mexicans. Many of the refugees and the first company of soldiers already are scattered along the road to Marfa

Ojinaga the scene of the recent battle, is guarded now by only a few rebels. All the dead have been buried and the wounded removed to the American side

The fact that there were no executions by the rebels after the federals retreated was due to an order issued by General Villa that only volunteers in the Huerta army should be summarily put to death No volunteers were captured General Villa said that henceforth as the revolution proceeds promiscuous shooting of prisoners must cease

MEXICAN CATTLE THIEF HUNG FROM GATE POST

"Let This Be Warning to All Thieves," Says Placard Affixed to Body

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 14.—"Let this be a warning to all thieves" is the text of a placard affixed to the breast of Ramon Valenzuela, Mexican cattle thief, whose body hangs from a tall gate post over the main highway at Cuquarchi, Sonora, 37 miles south of here. Valenzuela was hanged a few days ago, after a year of operation as leader of a band of cattle thieves.

Sentence of death was recently passed on him in Cananea, and a force of rurales sent out with orders to capture and summarily execute Valenzuela or any of his band.

The rustlers were located a few days ago near Mababi, having stolen cattle with them, and a running fight with the officers ensued. Valenzuela was captured. His three followers escaped, although one of them is said to have been badly wounded.

The bandit was hanged on the most conspicuous post in the vicinity. Before execution he gave the names of two Mexicans residing at Fronteras, where it is alleged they have been acting as his agents They were arrested and brought to Agua Prieta today and probably will be sent to Hermosillo for trial.

Rurales are still in pursuit of other members of the band, who are believed, however, to have escaped into Arizona.

bills it had already framed, Mr. Clayton replied:

"We did not come to give the president our ideas but to get his. This was the chief object of the conference."

Mr. Clayton and members of the committee said they were in hearty accord with the president's views. Earlier in the day, similar expressions came from Chairman Newlands and members of the senate interstate commerce committee Some of them said the president's ideas struck at the root of existing evils, urging legislation that would not be destructive, but tend rather to upbuild business.

The day's developments made it certain that the tentative bills already prepared by the [illegible] subcommittee of the house judiciary committee would be framed, particularly to include an interstate trade commission, which the subcommittee had not embodied in its plan

Both committees have practically determined to go ahead with the work of drafting the bills, eliminating hearings as they consider enough information on the subject already is at their disposal.

To Create Trade Commission.

Concerning the proposed interstate trade commission, the opinion was expressed by several senators and representatives that it would be created but with limited powers.

There are pending in congress several bills providing for a trade commission All of them would provide a nonpartisan board to be appointed by the president with the consent of the senate The president's idea is that a board of this kind, while serving as an arm to the courts, also should be an aid to the department of justice and in no manner conflict with the jurisdiction of that department.

CREW LEAVES COBEQUID AS SHIP BREAKS

care for the shipwrecked ones and they were given every comfort the city afforded.

Crash Came at Dawn.

Trinity Ledge, on which the Cobequid was transfixed at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, is a pinnacle of granite rising abruptly from the sea half way between this port and Brier island, where the steamer was at first thought to have struck. The Trinity is awash at low water. The [illegible] Lurcher shoal, which is lighted by a lightship, lies 10 miles outside Trinity rock, while the mouth of the Bay of Fundy takes vessels still farther off shore.

The bay was swept by a blizzard as the Cobequid, bound from the tropics, tried to feel her way toward St. John. The last of the ebb tide was running and the wind was strong from the west conditions which tended to drive the steamer closer to the Nova Scotia shore than her skipper anticipated

The crash came just before dawn and a few minutes later the hail of "S. O. S." was flashing over the sea. The Cobequid's operator was unable to give her location, for no one on board knew it definitely. Four hours later, flood tide and gale had driven the steamer still farther on the rock, breaking her back and flooding the engine room. This put out the fires and interrupted the wireless apparatus.

One Air Was Heroically.

The passengers were greatly alarmed but the courage of Captain Hawson and the abiding faith in his ship reassured them. The steamer took water rapidly and the surge began to tear away. Throughout the day and the night that followed the officers scanned the sea for passing craft and the operator worked heroically to restore his wireless outfit. Meanwhile the steamers that had picked up the first appeal for help were searching for the wrecked craft. A heavy vapor caused by the action of the intense cold on the water handicapped the searchers, and it was a [illegible] on Port Maitland shore who first made out the Cobequid as the [illegible] late this afternoon and revealed the liner on the dreaded Trinity.

Darkness was gathering fast when [illegible] but the boatmen from the [illegible] the rock and the surrounding shoals as well as they did their own front yards ashore and they kept at the work before them with confidence.

Less than five hours later those who had faced death for two days were being warmed and fed at the hotels here.

All Suffer From Cold.

All, however, had suffered from the intense cold. Most of them were frostbitten, and everyone showed the effects of exposure to [illegible] weather. When the rescue ships arrived [illegible] many of them [illegible] had to be carried to the boats. [illegible]

[illegible] with cold and dazed by [illegible] long ordeal, few of them could give an intelligent account of [illegible] O[illegible] of the [illegible] of the Cobequid said:

"The ship struck at 5 o'clock. A heavy [illegible] while we were trying to locate the lightship off [illegible] shoal In the [illegible] storm [illegible] prevailed we overshot the [illegible] and brought up on [illegible] of Trinity ledge.

"It was low tide, and later in the morning, as the tide rose, it forced us further up on the shoal The steamer began to pound heavily, and in a few minutes the engine room [illegible] filled with water. This stopped the dynamos, putting the lighting system and the wireless apparatus out of commission.

"After the ship struck we sent out an 'S. O. S.,' which was picked up by the Cape Sable wireless station

"Later, with the engine room filled, our operators had to depend entirely on the auxiliary storage battery. Then the gale carried away the deck connections of the aerials A temporary connection, which proved unreliable, was fixed up, but an hour later this, too, failed. Again we rigged upon a connection, but the batteries were growing weaker and we could send only a very faint spark. The puny waves could not reach the Cape Sable station, only 90 miles away, but we were able to pick up the medley of words regarding ourselves, and knew we were being searched for in vain off the Brier island, 40 miles away, in the position we erroneously gave before our wireless failed.

"Early today the Canadian Northern liner Royal George, outward bound from St. John, picked up our feeble cry and the rescue followed."

Suffering Intense.

It was a day and night of terror on the steamer. Life belts had been served to all on board, and when the seas began to break over the ship, all hands were ordered below, where they huddled in the cabins. It was feared that the hull would part Daylight and the knowledge that their appeal for help had been heard gave renewed hope, but the position of the ship grew more dangerous hourly. Up to noon the gale showed no signs of subsiding. The bridge chart house, companionways and everything movable on deck, including all but four lifeboats, were washed away

Various expedients to prevent suffering from cold were adopted. Fires were kindled in an iron bucket, in which holes had been cut to afford a draft This crude utensil was used to heat water and make tea One of the crew suffered a broken arm, but this was the only accident.

TOKIO, Jan. 14.—Official reports this afternoon from southern Japan, where volcanic eruptions and earthquakes have caused heavy loss of life, panic and great property damage, are that the eruption of the volcano of Sakura-Jima, which has caused the most devastation, is abating.

Just how heavy has been the loss of life cannot yet be estimated. Sakura, where the greatest loss of life undoubtedly occurred, cannot be visited because the eruption of Sakura-Jima continues. So the story, in this respect, must wait. Troops and warships are now in the vicinity and a search of the island will be made at the first opportunity.

d the doctor that life for two or three months had been of no consequence to me," said Mr. Abbott yesterday. "I instructed him to go ahead and that if my life went out under the operation, my wife would appreciate that all had been done that could possibly be done."

At the second operation a fluoroscope or continuous X-ray was used. By this means an assistant could watch the progress of the search and also assist in guiding the searcher. After 22 minutes of work, the forceps automatically grasped the piece of gold and the battle was won.

The band of gold had been caught in such a manner as to make it impossible to pull it through the tube so the tube was pulled out and the ring after it. At one time during the slow progress of drawing the piece of gold from the lung the pressure relaxed in such a manner as to lead Dr. Ingals to believe the gold had become detached from the forceps. Investigation by the fluoroscope showed that the gold was still attached and the operation was soon completed.

Watched Surgeon Work.

"When I saw that piece of gold brought from my mouth, I felt as if I had been given a new lease of life," said Mr. Abbott. "I suffered no pain whatever and watched the process of the doctor's work with much interest. There were several medical students present and they all applauded when they saw the ring."

The piece of gold is very thin and is in the form of a band. The band is about one-half inch in diameter.

Mr. Abbott is 45 years of age. He was formerly the publisher of an educational magazine in Oklahoma City. He is a graduate of Columbia university and the University of Nebraska. He was born and raised in Nebraska and is the son of the late Dr. Abbott of Fremont, Neb., formerly superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Lincoln.

Mr. Abbott appeared last night before a meeting of the El Paso County Medical society and told about his experience.

After the operation Abbott gained two pounds a day for four days. When he underwent the operation he weighed 121 pounds. He is now rapidly growing stronger and expects to have regained his health within a few months.

The practicability of the bronchioscope was first discovered by Dr. Gustave Killiam, a professor in the University of Berlin. By his invention it was necessary to perform a tracheotomy operation to recover foreign substances from the lungs. American physicians perfected the bronchioscope so that it could be inserted through the mouth. Wool Growers Ass'n Will Meet in Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 14.—Delegates from every wool-producing state in the Union were here tonight to attend the fiftieth annual convention of the National Wool Growers association, which begins a three days' session tomorrow. As a result of the interest in questions which are to be acted upon it was predicted that the largest attendance in the history of the organization would be recorded.

Among the subjects for discussion are the new wool tariff and the proposed adjustment in the use of public ranges by a system of leasing. Many national delegates attended the afternoon session of the Utah Wool Growers association today at which resolutions opposing the leasing of public lands, as provided in three bills pending before congress were introduced.

500 Strikers March to Funeral in Rain Storm

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 14.—Women in flowing veils of mourning led a procession of 500 smelter strikers and sympathizers in a two mile march in a rain storm today as a demonstration at the funeral of Andrew Aronke, who was killed in a strike riot at the Tacoma smelter a week ago. Croatian and American flags were carried at the head of the parade and behind the casket paraded a woman dressed as a bride and bearing a cross with a Bible and white carnations. Croatian rites were observed at the cemetery. Prominent in the procession was Hobson lodge No. 23, which bore its fraternity banner fringed with crepe.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

"THE PINK LADY"

Messrs. Fisher and Stevens will present the most popular of all musical comedies of the present generation, "The Pink Lady" for a return engagement at the Opera house Monday night. With a rattling good story, full of honest fun, with music that is a delight, an excellent cast including scores of pretty girls, it is not to be wondered that its success has been so conspicuous. It is best described as a happy medium between the better class of musical comedy and opera bouffe, with the fun evolved from the humorous complications of the story.

In the way of magnificence of scenery and costumes nothing presented in years can compare with "The Pink Lady." The beautiful gowns worn by the young ladies of the company are the latest creations of the most fashionable shops in Paris and will have an especial appeal to the women who attend the performances of "The Pink Lady," who will naturally be interested in knowing what will be worn by fashionable people on this side of the water during the coming season.

The delightful musical comedy will be seen here with many of the company seen here last season including Olga De Baugh.

Seat sale opens tomorrow morning.

OLGA DE BAUGH
As She Appears in the Title Role of "The Pink Lady," Which Comes to the Opera House Next Monday Night.

"MUTT AND JEFF"

There is absolutely no truth in the report that Mutt and Jeff are to retire from the stage and confine their humorous adventures exclusively to the columns of the various newspapers throughout the country. No less an authority than Manager Gus Hill himself says so. It was Mr. Hill who originally conceived the idea of having "Mutt and Jeff" try their fortunes before the footlights and it was also Mr. Hill who first saw the possibilities of the popular newspaper cartoons as a profitable stage attraction.

Bud Fisher's favorite creations are again to be the heroes of an original production at the Opera house next Friday and Saturday. The offering will be "Mutt and Jeff in Panama." The scheme this time will permit the famous long and short of it to go through a lot of hair-raising and withal humorous adventures under real melodramatic conditions. Starting from Old Point Comfort, Va., they will wend their way to Panama. From there they will emerge aboard the good ship Frisco and winding up at the Panama exposition at San Francisco. Their escapades are many and numerous and if their efforts fail to establish a new record for continuous laughter it will be because we all have lost our keen sense of humor. Mutt and Jeff first come into view as roller chair experts. From then on they are detectives, waiters, barbers, hold-up men, newsboys, wells and what not, surely a combination of disguises consistent with their varied and checkered natures.

PRINCESS

Aside from its delightful qualities as an amusement enterprise, George Kleine's splendid photo-drama "Quo Vadis," which is announced for a return engagement at the Princess next Monday, is doing a world of good as a time saver, and neatly fits the demands of the present age. It would require two weeks of the average business man's time to read Henryk Sienkiewicz's original novel, whereas the whole story, with every essential detail, is visualized with wonderful perfection in George Kleine's photo-drama. The novel leaves much to the imagination whereas the photo-drama leaves nothing omitted that the eye and mind can compass. Many more novels will be produced in photo-drama in the near future and busy men can acquire a liberal education and keep up with current literature while passing a few pleasant hours.

The amazing possibilities of the camera are revealed in "Quo Vadis," which has proven a sensation in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago. A complete romantic story is told in eight reels of film that abounds in thrills and dramatic situations. The New York Sun said: "Finer pictures were never seen here."

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water; you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. Adv.

This Home Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

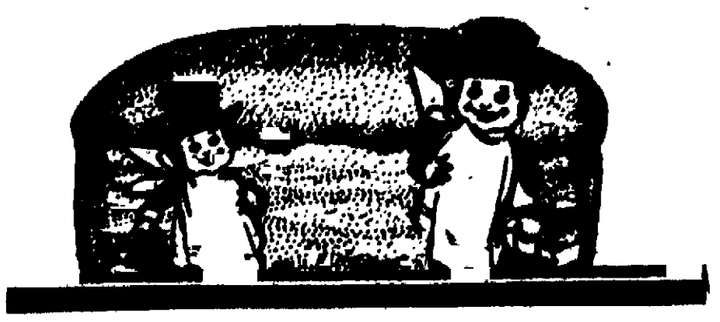

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint, enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Cap and Sweater Taken by Holdups, Says Youth

That he was held up at the Bijou street bridge in Monument Valley park at midnight, by two men, who took his cap and sweater in lieu of money, was the story told the police last night by C. Sheehan, who, in his nervous state of mind, forget to tell the officers his address. Sheehan described the men as most holdups are described—a short man and a tall man. They pointed a gun in his face, he said, as he started to cross the bridge, and after a search of his pockets, found no money. Sheehan had a new sweater and a cap and they appropriated these as the most valuable things they could get.

COLORADO-TO-GULF ROAD ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT

"Should Receive Hearty Support of Coloradoans," Says Pres. Friar of Association

One of the most important interstate auto roads from Colorado's point of view is the Colorado-to-the-Gulf highway running from Galveston, Tex., to Denver. The road will do more to bring tourists to Colorado and Colorado Springs than almost any of the other highways which pass through this city. The road starts at Galveston, traversing Texas and New Mexico to Trinidad and then through a series of Colorado towns, including Colorado Springs, to Denver.

Victor M. Friar, president of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highway association, and secretary of the Trinidad chamber of commerce, is here to attend the fourth annual convention of the Colorado Good Roads association today and tomorrow. In speaking of the road he said:

"Practically every bit of the route is in fine condition. The road runs through Raton Pass, the only mountain pass open for travel after the big snow storm last December. The majority of them have not been opened yet.

"The association is receiving enthusiastic support and in Texas almost $3,000,000 in bonds have been voted by the various counties toward the support of the highway. In Colorado the road is in good shape, but the support has not been as enthusiastic as it should be. I think the people here are beginning to realize that Colorado really will reap the great benefit from travel over this road and that soon they will give it their hearty support."

A meeting of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highway association will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SPOKANE BANK ROBBED OF $1,750 IN NOVEL MANNER

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 14.—A novel bank swindle, by which it was robbed of $1,750 on January 2 by a man giving the name of Shackleford T. Miller, was admitted today by the Fidelity National bank of this city.

Miller deposited $1,750 in the bank as a checking account last October. A few days later he changed it to a savings account. On January 2 he called at the bank and withdrew all but the accumulated interest.

When a new paying teller went on duty as luncheon relief, Miller again appeared at the window, presented a book that showed no withdrawals and was again paid $1,750. In the brief interval the first withdrawal had not been entered in the bank's books by the regular teller.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 14.—To save John Sharp, a friend, Brodie Bates, 13 years old, walked from Brawley, a mountain town, to Fort Smith, 75 miles, that he might plead guilty today to selling whiskey at a picnic.

Bates told Judge Frank A. Youmans of the federal court that he, and not Sharp, was responsible for the sale of the whiskey. The judge, however, fined both boys $100 each, suspending a 30-day jail sentence, and gave them two months to pay the fine. Sharp is 18 years old.

HOLDERS OF MEXICAN BONDS DISCONTENTED

European Powers May Ask U. S. to Take Action as Result of Difficulty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Formal notice from the City of Mexico, through the American charge today that the suspension of the payment of interest on the Mexican national debt covers a period of six months only, was not regarded here as conveying much encouragement to the holders of Mexican bonds.

State department officials do not doubt that if the revolution still is in progress at the end of six months there will be another default for the same reason that brought about the present suspension of payments.

Discontent among European bondholders, it was suggested today, forebode a renewal of pressure from the European governments upon the United States to take action to safeguard the interests of their subjects in Mexico. At one of the embassies it was stated that it was out of the question for any of the European powers either individually or collectively to intervene in Mexico now that they have practically, if not formally, confided to the United States the protection of those interests, but that it was assumed that the United States would take notice of the patent distress of those European interests.

Some administration officials are disposed to believe that General Huerta has deliberately held up these interest payments with the purpose of forcing intervention if possible. In their view the provisional president, alarmed at the successes of the Constitutionalists, prefers to yield to the United States government as an intervenor and thereby martyrize himself in the eyes of the Mexican people rather than to surrender the reins of power to his enemies.

Secretary Bryan spent an hour in conference with President Wilson today, a considerable part of the time being given up to a discussion of the situation in Mexico.

MERCADO WANTS TO RETURN AND FIGHT

Mexican Federal General will Conform With Wishes of U. S., He Says

PRESIDIO, Tex., Jan. 14.—When informed today that the war department at Mexico City would request the United States to return to Mexico all the Mexican soldiers who were driven into this country by the rebels at Ojinaga, Mexico, Gen. Salvador Mercado said:

"We are in the hands of the United States. It never was our purpose merely to retreat to this country for safety and then to return to fight again as soon as we had been well fed. I ordered our soldiers to cross the river on grounds of humanity. We had no ammunition with which to fight. A thousand women and children were among us. To have remained in Ojinaga would have meant massacre. What the United States will do with us I don't know, but I shall be glad to conform to the wishes of my own government. I and my men are still soldiers."

The plans for the transportation of General Mercado, the 3,352 Mexican soldiers and officers and the 1,367 women and children refugees to Fort Bliss at El Paso, where they are to be held in custody indefinitely, were rushed today. As soon as they arrive at Marfa, the nearest railway station, they will be put on trains for El Paso. Gen. Hugh L. Scott informed Major McNamee, in charge of the border patrol here, that a permanent camp with ample tents, kitchens and living arrangements was provided at El Paso.

The Mexican soldiers are held virtually as prisoners. The women, known as camp followers, are the wives of the soldiers. They were permitted to accompany the exiled army as their own choice. The women are to do the cooking for the Mexicans. Many of the refugees and the first company of soldiers already are scattered along the road to Marfa.

Ojinaga, the scene of the recent battle, is guarded now by only a few rebels. All the dead have been buried and the wounded removed to the American side.

The fact that there were no executions by the rebels after the federals retreated was due to an order issued by General Villa that only volunteers in the Huerta army should be summarily put to death. No volunteers were captured. General Villa said that henceforth as the revolution proceeds promiscuous shooting of prisoners must cease.

MEXICAN CATTLE THIEF HUNG FROM GATE POST

"Let This Be Warning to All Thieves" Says Placard Affixed to Body

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 14.—"Let this be a warning to all thieves" is the text of a placard affixed to the breast of Ramon Valensuela, Mexican cattle thief, whose body hangs from a tall gate post near the main highway at Cuquarchi, Sonora, 37 miles southwest of here. Valensuela was hanged a few days ago, after a year of operation as leader of a band of cattle thieves.

Sentence of death was recently passed on him in Cananea, and a force of rurales sent out with orders to capture and summarily execute Valensuela or any of his men.

The rustlers were located a few days ago near Mababi, having stolen cattle with them, and a running fight with the officers ensued. Valensuela was captured. His three followers escaped, although one of them is said to have been badly wounded.

The bandit was hanged on the most conspicuous spot in the vicinity. Before execution he gave the names of two Mexicans residing at Nacozari, where it is alleged they have been acting as his agents. They were arrested and brought to Agua Prieta today and probably will be sent to Hermosillo for trial.

Rurales are still in pursuit of other members of the band, who are believed, however, to have escaped into Arizona.

"We did not come to give the president our ideas but to get his. This was the chief object of the conference."

Mr. Clayton and members of the committee said they were in hearty accord with the president's views. Earlier in the day, similar expressions came from Chairman Newlands and members of the senate interstate commerce committee. Some of them said the president's ideas struck at the root of existing evils, urging legislation that would not be destructive, but tend rather to upbuild business.

The day's developments made it certain that the tentative bills already prepared by the trust subcommittee of the house judiciary committee would be framed, particularly to include an interstate trade commission, which the subcommittee had not embodied in its plan.

Both committees have practically determined to go ahead with the work of drafting the bills, eliminating hearings as they consider enough information on the subject already is at their disposal.

To Create Trade Commission.

Concerning the proposed interstate trade commission, the opinion was expressed by several senators and representatives that it would be created but with limited powers.

There are pending in congress several bills providing for a trade commission. All of them would provide a nonpartisan board to be appointed by the president with the consent of the senate. The president's idea is that a board of this kind, while serving as an arm to the courts, also should be an aid to the department of justice and in no manner conflict with the jurisdiction of that department.

WOMEN AND WET FEET

Cold and wet feet are a dangerous combination, especially to women, who are more prone to kidney diseases than men. Congested kidneys come from a cold, and backache, rheumatism, urinary irregularities and rheumatic pains are not unusual results. Foley Kidney Pills restore the regular and normal action of the kidneys and bladder, and so remove the cause of the trouble. It is an honest and curative medicine that always gives results. CREW LEAVES COBEQUID AS SHIP BREAKS care for the shipwrecked ones and they were given every comfort the city afforded.

Crash Came at Dawn.

Trinity rock, on which the Cobequid was transfixed at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, is a pinnacle of granite rising abruptly from the sea half way between this port and Partridge island, where the steamer was at first thought to have struck. The Trinity is awash at low water. The famous Lurcher shoal, which is indicated by a lightship, lies 10 miles outside Trinity rock, while the course up the Bay of Fundy takes vessels still further off shore.

The bay was swept by a blizzard as the Cobequid, bound from the tropics began to feel her way toward St. John. The last of the ebb tide was running and the wind was strong from the west—conditions which tended to drive the steamer closer to the eastern shore than her skipper anticipated.

The crash came just before dawn and a few minutes later the wireless "S. O. S." was flashing over the sea. The Cobequid's operator was unable to give her location, for no one on board knew it definitely. Four hours later, flood tide and gales had driven the steamer still farther on the rock, breaking her back and flooding the engine room. This put out the fires and interrupted the wireless apparatus.

Operator Works Heroically.

The passengers were greatly alarmed but the courage of Captain Hawson and his abiding faith in his ship reassured them. The steamer took water rapidly and the cargo began to tear away. Throughout the day and the night that followed the officers scanned the sea for passing craft and the operator worked heroically to restore his wireless outfit. Meantime steamers that had picked up the first appeal for help were searching for the distressed craft. A heavy vapor caused by the action of the intense cold on the water handicapped the searchers, and it was a fisherman on Port Maitland shore who first made out the Cobequid as the vapor rose late this afternoon and revealed the liner on the dreaded Trinity.

Darkness was gathering fast when the rescue began, but the boatmen from the coastal steamers knew the rock and the surrounding shoals as well as they did their own front yards ashore and they went at the work before them with confidence.

Less than five hours later those who had faced death for two days were being warmed and fed at the hotels here.

All Suffer From Cold.

All, however, had suffered from the intense cold. Most of them were frostbitten, and everyone showed the effects of exposure to zero weather. When the rescue ships reached dock here, many of their passengers had to be carried to the hotel. For the 36 hours after the vessel struck, rain broke over her continually and she was coated with ice.

Benumbed with cold and dazed by their long ordeal, few of the rescued could give an intelligent account of their experiences tonight. One of the officers of the Cobequid said:

"The ship struck at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning while we were trying to locate the lightship off the Lurcher shoal. In the blinding snow storm which prevailed we overshot the mark and brought up on the southeast end of Trinity ledge.

"It was low tide, and later in the morning, as the tide rose, it forced us farther up on the shoal. The steamer began to pound heavily, and in a few minutes the engine room was filled with water. This stopped the dynamos, putting the lighting system and the wireless apparatus out of commission.

"After the ship struck we sent out an 'S. O. S.,' which was picked up by the Cape Sable wireless station.

"Later, with the engine room filled, our operators had to depend entirely on the auxiliary storage battery. Then the gale carried away the deck connections of the aerials. A temporary connection, which proved unreliable, was fixed up, but an hour later this, too, failed. Again we rigged upon a connection, but the batteries were growing weaker and we could send only a very faint spark. The puny waves could not reach the Cape Sable station, only 90 miles away, but we were able to pick up the medley of words regarding ourselves, and knew we were being searched for in vain off the Brier island, 40 miles away, in the position we erroneously gave before our wireless failed.

"Early today the Canadian Northern liner Royal George, outward bound from St. John, picked up our feeble cry and the rescue followed."

Suffering Intense.

It was a day and night of terror on the steamer. Life belts had been served to all on board, and when the seas began to break over the ship, all hands were ordered below, where they huddled in the cabins. It was feared that the hull would part. Daylight and the knowledge that their appeal for help had been heard gave renewed hope, but the position of the ship grew more dangerous hourly. Up to noon the gale showed no signs of subsiding. The bridge chart house, companionways and everything movable on deck, including all but four lifeboats, were washed away.

Various expedients to prevent suffering from cold were adopted. Fires were kindled in an iron bucket, in which holes had been cut to afford a draft. This crude utensil was used to heat water and make tea. One of the crew sufefred a broken arm, but this was the only accident.

STEAMER PASSENGERS SEE MIRAGE OF NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Lower New York upside down was the strange sight that greeted passengers on the steamer Prins Joachim, as the vessel, inbound, paused off Sandy Hook, today waiting for the mist to clear. In the dense vapor raised by the cold weather appeared a clear cut mirage of the tip of Manhattan.

Eruption Abating.

TOKIO, Jan. 14.—Official reports this afternoon from southern Japan, where volcanic eruptions and earthquakes have caused heavy loss of life, panic and great property damage, are that the eruption of the volcano of Sakura-Jima, which has caused the most devastation, is abating.

Just how heavy has been the loss of life cannot yet be estimated. Sakura, where the greatest loss of life undoubtedly occurred, cannot be visited because the eruption of Sakura-Jima continues. So the story in this respect, must wait. Troops and warships are now in the vicinity and a search of the island will be made at the first opportunity.

...id the doctor that life for two or three months had been of no consequence to me," said Mr. Abbott yesterday. "I instructed him to go ahead and that if my life went out under the operation, my wife would appreciate that all had been done that could possibly be done."

At the second operation a fluoroscope or continuous X-ray was used. By this means an assistant could watch the progress of the search and also assist in guiding the searcher. After 23 minutes of work, the forceps automatically grasped the piece of gold and the battle was won.

The band of gold had been caught in such a manner as to make it impossible to pull it through the tube so the tube was pulled out and the ring after it. At one time during the slow progress of drawing the piece of gold from the lung the pressure relaxed in such a manner as to lead Dr. Ingals to believe the gold had become detached from the forceps. Investigation by the fluoroscope showed that the gold was still attached and the operation was soon completed.

Watched Surgeon Work.

"When I saw that piece of gold brought from my mouth, I felt as if I had been given a new lease of life," said Mr. Abbott. "I suffered no pain whatever and watched the process of the doctor's work with much interest. There were several medical students present and they all applauded when they saw the ring."

The piece of gold is very thin and is in the form of a band. The band is about one-half inch in diameter.

Mr. Abbott is 45 years of age. He was formerly the publisher of an educational magazine in Oklahoma City. He is a graduate of Columbia university and the University of Nebraska. He was born and raised in Nebraska and is the son of the late Dr. Abbott of Fremont, Neb., formerly superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Lincoln.

Mr. Abbott appeared last night before a meeting of the El Paso County Medical society and told about his experience.

After the operation Abbott gained two pounds a day for four days. When he underwent the operation he weighed 127 pounds. He is now rapidly growing stronger and expects to have rega[illegible] within a few months.

The practicability of the bronchioscope was first discovered by Dr. Gustave Killiam, a professor in the University of Berlin. By his invention it was necessary to perform a tracheotomy operation to recover foreign substances from the lungs. American physicians perfected the bronchioscope so that it could be inserted through the mouth. Dr. Ingal's style of instrument has numerous small holes in the tubing so as to make breathing easier for the patient during an operation.

Wool Growers Ass'n Will Meet in Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 14.—Delegates from every wool-producing state in the Union were here tonight to attend the fiftieth annual convention of the National Wood Growers association, which begins a three days' session tomorrow. As a result of the interest in questions which are to be acted upon, it was predicted that the largest attendance in the history of the organization would be recorded.

Among the subjects for discussion are the new wool tariff and the proposed adjustment in the use of public ranges by a system of leasing. Many national delegates attended the afternoon session of the Utah Wool Growers association today, at which resolutions opposing the leasing of public lands, as provided in three bills pending before congress, were introduced.

Croatian and American flags were carried at the head of the parade, and behind the casket marched a woman dressed as a bride and bearing a tray with a Bible and white carnations. Croatian rites were observed at the cemetery. Prominent in the procession was Hoboes union No. 23, which bore its fraternity banner fringed with crepe.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

"THE PINK LADY"

Messrs. Fisher and Stevens will present the most popular of all musical comedies of the present generation, "The Pink Lady," for a return engagement at the Opera house Monday night. With a rattling good story, full of honest fun, with music that is a delight, an excellent cast including scores of pretty girls, it is not to be wondered that its success has been so conspicuous. It is best described as a happy medium between the better class of musical comedy and opera bouffe, with the fun envolved from the humorous complications of the story.

OLGA DE BAUGH
As She Appears in the Title Role of "The Pink Lady," Which Comes to the Opera House Next Monday Night.

In the way of magnificence of scenery and costumes nothing presented in years can compare with "The Pink Lady." The beautiful gowns worn by the young ladies of the company are the latest creations of the most fashionable shops in Paris and will have an especial appeal to the women who attend the performances of "The Pink Lady," who will naturally be interested in knowing what will be worn by fashionable people on this side of the water, during the coming season.

The delightful musical comedy will be seen here with many of the company seen here last season, including Olga De Baugh.

Seat sale opens tomorrow morning.

"MUTT AND JEFF"

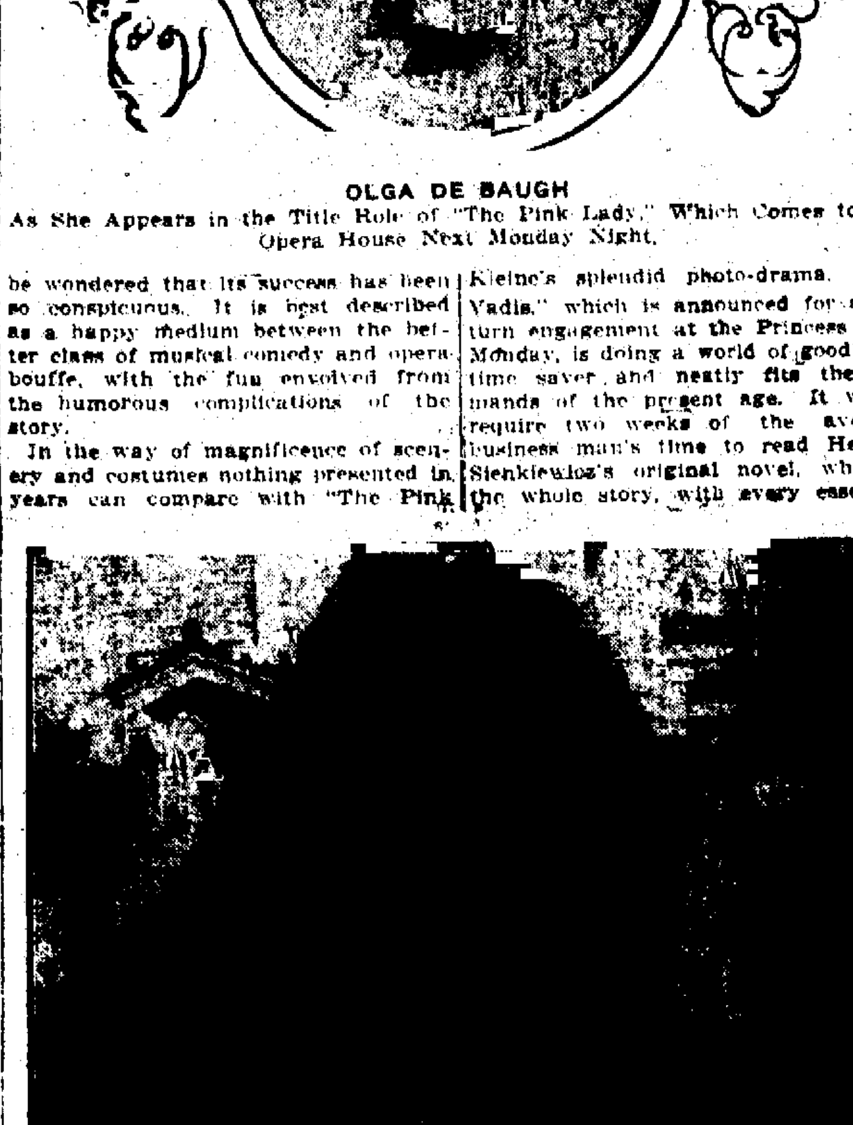

There is absolutely no truth in the report that "Mutt and Jeff" are to retire from the stage and confine their humorous adventures exclusively to the columns of the various newspapers throughout the country. No less an authority than Manager Gus Hill himself says so. It was Mr. Hill who originally conceived the idea of having "Mutt and Jeff" try their fortunes before the footlights, and it was also Mr. Hill who first saw the possibilities of the popular newspaper cartoons as a profitable stage attraction.

Bud Fisher's favorite creations are again to be the heroes of an original production at the Opera house next Friday and Saturday. The offering will be "Mutt and Jeff in Panama." The vehicle has fame will permit the famous long and short of it to go through a lot of hair-raising and withal humorous adventures under real melodramatic conditions. Starting from Old Point Comfort, Va., they will wend their way to Panama. From there they will emerge aboard the good ship "Frisco" and winding up at the Panama exposition at San Francisco. Their escapades are many and numerous and if their efforts fail to establish a new record for continuous laughter it will be because we all have lost our keen sense of humor.

"Mutt and Jeff" first come into view as roller chair experts. From then on they are detectives, waiters, barbers, hold-up men, ne'er-do-wells and what not, surely a continuation of disguises consistent with their varied and checkered natures.

PRINCESS

Aside from its delightful qualities as an amusement enterprise, George Kleine's splendid photo-drama, "Quo Vadis," which is announced for a return engagement at the Princess next Monday, is doing a world of good as a time saver and neatly fits the demands of the present age. It would require two weeks of the average business man's time to read Henryk Sienkiewicz's original novel, whereas the whole story, with every essential detail, is visualized with wonderful perfection in George Kleine's photo-drama. The novel leaves much to the imagination, whereas the photo-drama leaves nothing omitted that the eye and mind can compass. Many more novels will be produced in photo-drama in the near future, and busy men can acquire a liberal education and keep up with current literature while passing a few pleasant hours.

SCENE FROM "QUO VADIS," WHICH WILL BE SHOWN AT THE PRINCESS NEXT MONDAY.

The amazing possibilities of the camera are revealed in "Quo Vadis" which has proven a sensation in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago. A complete romantic story is told in eight reels of film that abounds in thrills and dramatic situations. The New York Sun said: "Finer pictures were never seen here."

Mrs. Margaretta Sullivan was yesterday granted a divorce in the district court from William P. Sullivan, a New York city dentist, on the grounds of nonsupport. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. —Adv.

Cap and Sweater Taken by Holdups, Says Youth

That he was held up at the Bijou street bridge in Monument Valley park at midnight, by two men, who took his cap and sweater in lieu of money, was the story told the police last night by C. Sheehan, who, in his nervous state of mind, forgot to tell the officers his address. Sheehan described the men as most holdups are described—a short man and a tall man. They pointed a gun in his face, he said, as he started to cross the bridge, and after a search of his pockets, found no money. Sheehan had a new sweater and a cap and they appropriated these as the most valuable things they could get.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Adv.

WELL DESERVED

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Colorado Springs People

One kidney remedy has known merit.

Colorado Springs people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Colorado Springs testimony proves it reliable.

C. C. Berry, 1111 Washington Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Any little exertion made me tired and my back ached almost constantly. If I walked up town I was exhausted and a steady ache across my loins was very disagreeable. For four or five months I was troubled in that way and I didn't know what was ailing me. Finally I ble came from my kidneys. I used Pills, being told that no doubt the trouble came from my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills only a few days before I felt as well as ever. I am always glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and statements I have given about them heretofore have been correct."

SUCCESSFUL SUNDAY CONCERTS

THE successful outcome of the Musical Club's experiment of giving Sunday orchestra concerts ought to be a matter of pride to the entire public. The venture was tried last winter but soon abandoned because of inadequate support. When it was again proposed two or three months ago a guarantee fund was pledged by the club to make good possible deficits, and at first it seemed that even this plan would not work. But the collections have steadily increased until now they are sufficient to pay the cost of the concerts. The attendance has steadily grown until it has been decided to hold the entertainments hereafter in the Burns Theater, which has a larger seating capacity than the Princess.

The Musical Club is to be congratulated. It is providing high class entertainment at a very small cost, and it richly deserves the continued support of the public.

THE MANLY ART

JACK JOHNSON, negro white slaver and champion heavyweight prize fighter, who forfeited his bond and fled from this country to escape punishment after his conviction of violating the Mann act, met another pug in Paris yesterday and signed an agreement for a fight. Says the cable report of this momentous event:

The signatures to the articles were finally affixed in the presence of many managers, promoters, boxing men and other sportsmen, and Johnson and Moran then drank each other's health in goblets of champagne.

Three moving picture machines were working during the negotiations.

And still the adherents of the prize fight game wonder why it is utterly discredited. Here is a low, vicious, negro ruffian, tried and convicted of a heinous crime, a fugitive from justice in a foreign land. Yet next summer he will appear before an audience of thousands in Paris to defend his glorious title of champion of the world, and the financial success of the event is so completely assured that its promoters have already given him $35,000 as a guarantee.

Paris is welcome to Johnson as long as it wants him, and he will probably stay a long time, for he can't come home without facing a penitentiary sentence.

THE JAPANESE DISASTER

THE American people are in many respects the most fortunate race in the world. We inhabit the richest country on the globe, with the greatest natural resources, with an equable climate and all other conditions to make life easy and enjoyable. We have our troubles of various kinds, but in comparison with those of other peoples they are almost trivial. Compared with Europe and Asia, America is still virgin land, where everybody can make a living and a surprisingly large percentage of the population can acquire wealth.

Most of us do not appreciate the blessings of living in such a favored land, for we accept our advantages as a matter of course. But when we read of conditions in some other countries the difference is plain enough to afford an instructive lesson. For instance, there are the Balkan countries and Mexico, where incessant war has reduced the entire population to extremes of suffering which can scarcely be understood by the average American. And now the reports of famine, earthquake and volcanic eruptions in Japan point a moral in that quarter of the globe.

Imagine a population of fifty-three millions of people living in a country only one-third larger than the state of Colorado, a country one-half of which is mountainous and the other half of scant fertility. Wages are so low that an able-bodied man must work a week to earn what an unskilled laborer in America receives for a day's toil. The government is staggering under a crushing burden of debt, and taxation is two or three times higher than it is in this country. There is no new land, every acre has been cultivated for centuries, and no opportunity for expansion, no outlet for the surplus population except beyond the seas. Every trade, profession and business calling is overcrowded.

* * * * *

Imagine in such a country a crop failure which produces a famine affecting ten million people. Millions of Japanese go through life with seldom a taste of any other food than fish and rice. A short rice crop does not mean mere financial loss, as is the case when we have a short wheat or corn crop, but actual starvation. This is the condition of Japan today, and to add to its misfortunes a series of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes has spread devastation throughout a large part of the country.

Earthquakes are not unknown in Japan; in fact they are of such frequent occurrence that the houses are specially designed to withstand shocks, so the loss is not comparable to what it would be in an American community. Nevertheless in an impoverished country it is a terrible calamity. Whatever may be thought of the Japanese immigrant in America, it is impossible to withhold admiration for a people who in a half century have completely transformed their civilization from medieval barbarism to conformity to Twentieth century ideals, and who are struggling to maintain their place against such adverse conditions.

Whether or not the reduction of 75 cents a ton in the price of bituminous coal is due to the agitation for a municipal mine, it will be welcomed by the public. Unfortunately, though, the reduction does not apply to the local product, which is used by probably three-fourths of the people in Colorado Springs. This is harvest time for the local operators and they are making hay while the sun shines. They know, as does everybody else, that conditions are not again likely to be favorable to the maintenance of a price combine which will enable them to charge $4.50 for a product which is honestly worth considerably less.

Pennsylvania Progressives are holding a conference to make plans for the next fall campaign with special reference to capturing the political scalp of Senator Penrose, whose term will expire next year. Not at all surprising that Penrose anxiously desires the return of the wayward brethren to the fold, is it?

Before getting wildly excited over the disposal of the radium lands, wouldn't it be well to find out what radium is really good for? At present the scientists seem to be as much in doubt as to its curative value as anybody.

Huerta says the suspension of interest payments on Mexican bonds is due to "abnormal circumstances." He might have added that the most abnormal of these is himself.

FROM OTHER PENS

BUNCOMBE.

From the New York Evening Post

Between Mr Mann, Republican leader in the house of representatives, and Speaker Clark who took the floor to reply to his "calamity" talk yesterday, honors are even Mr Mann draws a harrowing picture of poverty and unemployment in Chicago, and declares that "the president and the other side of the house," instead of doing something to relieve the situation are pursuing the fatuous policy that they talked about on the stump Whether he thinks that they ought incontinently to repeal the tariff act or that they ought to drop the banking and currency bill, he does not happen to mention. Mr. Clark, rising to reply, makes one point which, it must be admitted is highly effective Mr. Mann had pointed to the soup-houses and breadlines brought in by the calamity of Democratic rule, and had declared that nothing of the kind was known in the panic year of 1907, whereupon Mr. Clark neatly counters as follows:

"The gentleman says there were no soup-houses in 1907 In that year I made a speech here and quoted a whole lot of this kind of stuff which he has been quoting here today Republican stop houses was my theme on that occasion

This candid reference to his own buncombe of the past is well enough as a reply to Mr Mann's [illegible] be of the present; but they produce a fresh bit of buncombe by throwing out dark suspicions that the present [illegible], or the talk about it, is part of a Republican conspiracy to destroy the country's prosperity?

NECKTIES

BY GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

A necktie is man's substitute for ribbons, lace, frills, flounces, feathers, reveres, berthas, jabots, dog collars and other ornaments, too numerous to mention.

Very few men attempt to beautify themselves by hanging on decorations. Most men regard this task as hopeless and are content to let their tailors sculpture them into attractive shapes and designs.

Trying to choke himself and swear at the same time while conforming to fashion's stern decree.

It is only in his necktie, as a rule, that man attempts to decorate the world with color and design.

Man's devotion to drab can usually be measured by his neckties If he buys $15 worth of suit and wears it until the health department objects, he usually has the clothier throw in a necktie which he wears until it comes apart. Many a man has come back home to Boggs' Corners or Crowfoot so changed in features that his old friends would not have recognized him except for his necktie.

On the other hand, if a man has a suit for every day in the week and a dozen pairs of beautiful cream colored pants for summer wear, he usually picks out neckties as lovingly as a connoisseur picking out art, and many a man who picks out 20 candidates for office from among 200 in 10 seconds will spend an hour trying to decide whether or not a lemon colored tie with gold and sapphire arabesques will bring out his ginger colored hair too prominently.

A few men prefer landscape art to neckties and wear beards instead with great economy and success. And a few old-fashioned men use a $100 diamond collar button as a substitute, saving much money in the long run, because a diamond never fades or parts in the back under a heavy strain. But the remainder of mankind spend a few minutes each morning running a necktie through a collar and hauling on the slack end of the knot like a sailor tugging at the mainsheet. There are few sadder features of modern slavery than the sight of a brave patriot trying to choke himself and to swear at the same time while conforming to fashion's stern decree.

To the student of character, the black string necktie denotes either piety or politics; the trig little bow, neatness and efficiency; the chromatic four-in-hand with calliope toots, recklessness at cards; the two-acre folding affair which hides the shirt, an economical disposition; the flowing cataract of crepe de chine, an artistic disposition far above the thought of work; and the greasy tie with the front worn off back to the lining—an aversion to bathtubs and other fussy ideas.

Fashionable neckties are very elaborate in design this year and the noise of traffic on Broadway in New York is entirely drowned out by the haberdasher's windows.

Some Points of View

BY RUTH CAMERON

Some weeks ago I gave over my column to a reader friend who thought that too much emphasis had been laid on the happiness of married life and too little on the drawbacks which exist, especially when the man is poor. The following answer also deserves my space:

Just a word for the forlorn wives of poor men. The impulse seized me to leave my pie and cooky baking long enough to remind the complacent bachelor maid that the days do come and the years draw nigh when one is lonely, oh, so lonely, without children or children's children.

"There's where the faithful, toil-worn wife of an ordinary man gets her inning. And she can give up chasing lecture courses and art exhibitions and woman's clubs, and be a comfortable old lady without any sense of shame and loss. She that loses her life shall find it.

I was a college woman, my husband is a college-bred, professional man. The fruits are two children of brilliant mind, and we are proud and happy."

(In haste for I fear the cranberries are sticking)

ONE-WHO-FOUND-IT WORTH WHILE

"Did she really like my Christmas gift or was she just pretending to be pleased?" is a query that often lurks in the mind long after the holiday season is passed. It is so hard to tell Some people can seem delighted when they are in reality most disappointed, and others lack the ability to make their thanks sound convincing no matter how pleased they really are

All this is a preamble to a suggestion If you want to do a kind thing tell some member of your circle how much some other member seemed to enjoy his gift Assurances like this from a third person are always much more convincing I once gave a kodak for which I paid more than I really could afford, to a nephew of mine It did not seem to me at the time that he was particularly pleased But the next time I met his sister she seized the opportunity to say, I never saw anyone enjoy anything as much as Carl enjoys that camera After that I felt well repaid for whatever sacrifice it had involved

It's just a little thing to remember to do but it may give a lot of happiness

The following acrostic on optimism and pessimism, which one of my reader friends has written and sent me is altogether too good not to share with my other reader friends

THE CONTRAST.

Acrostic. Optimism.

Hope for the best not evermore
Overhead the sunlight gleams,
Pass not the time in weeping sore
Ever watch the golden gleams
Thrown from heaven a wide open door
Hope the best be energetic
Ever seek the brightest view,
Brightest dreams may be prophetic
Every promise may come true
Stand not in the purple shadows
Think—the best may come to you

Pessimism

Fear the worse, with moan and cry
Every spring is doing dry'
All our crops must surely fail
Rain will turn to pelting hail'
Thunder sure will kill the chicks
Hurry up, we're in a fix'
Ere we can turn around once more
We'll be turned outside the door
Oh whatever shall we do?
Rent will be tomorrow due
Surely we shall all be ill
Then who'll pay the doctor's bill

ODDS AND ENDS

Those coal operators who are so anxious to have Tommy Thomas sell coal at reduced prices direct to consumers probably know just what they would do to him if he tried it.

It would be comparatively easy for the operators to "get" Thomas. But to "get" the city is another and entirely different matter.

There would seem to be no good reason why the city should not try the experiment which Mr. Thomas has made possible. The city can lose nothing, and if the proposition proves successful the coal consumers will save over $1 on every ton of coal burned.

It's evident that the weather man furnished the "real winter" he promised. And we're none of us going to complain that he saw fit to send it over this time.

Mexico has defaulted on its national debt. But little matters of finance don't worry Huerta a minute. He simply orders up another cold bottle.

But foreign diplomats, as they see the conditions in Mexico go from bad to worse, and as they listen to the loud demands from their money-lenders for interest, find it hard indeed to be satisfied with Secretary Bryan's grape juice They want something stronger.

After all, even though Governor Ammons has failed utterly to settle the coal strike, it isn't necessarily true that Colorado has the most useless governor in the United States. Governor Ferris of Michigan is just as bad.

And there's one more consolation for us. We may have no means whatever for settling strikes, but neither does South Africa.

And the Boers, however good they may be as fighters, seem to have no conception whatever of social justice. If men won't work, old General Botha proposes to give them short shrift. That may go in South Africa, but it wouldn't go in the United States of America—at least, not for long.

General Wood wants our army placed on a war footing, of 70,000 men. That is surely not an unreasonable request. Such an army can hardly overawe 80,000,000 people

The important feature of the Wilson trust program is an interstate trade commission. The president hastens to assure the country that this is not the same kind of commission he blamed the Progressives for advocating. It's a commission without power. But, at that, it's a start in the Progressive direction. The interstate commerce commission had no power when it started It has now.

After all, the most important anti-trust act congress can pass this session will be the bill for an Alaskan railway, owned and operated by the government.

Democrats see an era of unexampled prosperity, Republicans a period of business stagnation. The common man can't see that there's any justification for either view.

But if there doesn't come a panic then woe is the Republican party. For the G. O. P. has gambled its all on the soup kitchen.

The new tariff has actually reduced prices of cloth to the wholesaler. But we're told, the ultimate consumer won't see any reduction. "The reduced cost will be lost in the course of handling."

Of course the tariff is a wonderful benefit to the people. But just how?

Governor Ammons is very anxious that the national government should take a hand in settling the coal strike He has discovered that the job is too large for him.—Elbert Tribune.

And yet in spite of his disappointing failure to handle the strike the governor thinks himself perfectly competent to settle the conservation question

Until the state of Colorado can devise some plan whereby the state land board can be filled and the business of that office is dispatched with system criticism of federal control of public resources will fall upon deaf ears.—El Paso County Democrat

But the fact that Colorado hasn't guarded her resources is the very reason the exploiters want all the public lands turned over to the state

The effort being made to start a recall on Governor Ammons is more likely to act as a boomerang than to discredit him and force his candidacy for renomination Idaho Springs Mining Gazette

PROMOTION DENIED TO PENN PROFS WHO RAP CAPITALIST

From the Philadelphia North American

Dr. Scott Nearing and Dr. Clyde D. King are not the only progressive teachers who have been discriminated against at the University of Pennsylvania. A dozen others have come under the ban of the reactionary interests that control the finance committee of the university board of trustees.

Dr. Thomas Conway, Jr., and Dr. Ward W. Pierson are among other progressive teachers who have felt the displeasure of "pullback" trustees and the interests that dominate these trustees. Both are assistant professors in the Wharton school, and have repeatedly been denied promotions to full professorships despite the recommendations of their school faculty.

Dr. Conway is assistant professor of finance. In 1910 he wrote an article on "Decreasing Financial Returns Upon Urban Street Railways." This article was the result of exhaustive investigations by Dr. Conway, which showed that decreased earnings of street railways were due, not to insufficient revenues, too low fares or too liberal transfer and exchange privileges, but to frenzied finance on the part of the promoting as well as the operating managements.

Dr Conway, in his treatise, pointed out the imminent danger to stockholders and the riding public, and outlined remedies which would have to be applied to prevent disaster.

Dr. Conway's treatise was published in the "Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science," of 1911 These annals are scientific publications of the highest standard and include some of the foremost men of the nation among their contributors

Contributions to scientific publications are encouraged and, in fact, expected, on the part of faculty members of all universities, including the University of Pennsylvania and Dr. Conway's contribution to the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science was therefore merely a matter of volunteer duty that usually earns certain recognition from universities

Dr. Conway's Promotion Voted.

A few months after the publication of Dr Conway's work he was unanimously recommended for promotion to a full professorship by the Wharton school faculty When this recommendation was presented to the academic council of the university, Provost Smith arose and said that he felt obliged to oppose Dr Conway's promotion for the reason that complaints had been made by certain sources close to the university that Dr Conway's article was grossly inaccurate and unscientific and had a great deal of bias

Since then every effort to [illegible] great harm had been done to an honored body by Dr Conway's exposure of frenzied finance in street railway corporations has failed to cool any victims except possibly Randal Morgan and [illegible] Severing Jones, two university trustees and dominant figures on its finance committee It appears that at the time Dr Conway's exposure of electric street railway manipulations was published Messrs Morgan and Jones were both interested in electric street railway transactions in New England and Indiana, for which civil suits were entered against them

Dr Conway's promotion was vetoed of course, not on the grounds of his progressive financial ideas but on the pretext that his street railway treatise was 'grossly inaccurate and unscientific'

But in October 1911 a committee of the American Street and Interurban Electric Railway association, composed of electric railway officials and experts from the entire country made a report supporting Dr Conway's position in its entirety and accepting his proposed remedies almost in verbatim form The report was officially called to the attention of Provost Smith, with the request that he place it before the board of trustees

Dr James T Young at that time director of the Wharton school and a progressive teacher who since has been summarily removed, also caused a canvass to be made among the leading engineering and traffic experts of the country These experts without exception supported Dr Conway's conclusions

Finally, Provost Smith was obliged to go before the academic council of the University of Pennsylvania, retract his criticism of Dr. Conway's work with the admission that his criticism had been unwarranted; that Dr. Conway's work as a matter of fact was not "grossly inaccurate and unscientific," but was a scholarly piece of work.

The pretext for refusing Dr. Conway's promotion was thereby removed But despite this fact and the further fact that Dr. Conway every year has been recommended for promotion by the Wharton school faculty his progressive teacher's promotion has been just as consistently vetoed by the university's finance committee. This has been made possible by a rule of the board of trustees of the university that promotions require the unanimous consent of the board. The street railway financier on the board has therefore power to block Dr. Conway's promotion for life.

The case of Dr Ward W. Pierson is similar Dr Pierson is associate professor of commercial law at the Wharton school. Dr. Pierson has lived in letter and in spirit lived up to the terms under which Joseph Wharton endowed the Wharton school.

He took an active part in the reorganization of the city department of wharves, docks and ferries and helped to cut out the commercial necessity of wrresting control of the city's harbor facilities from the railroads.

He collected important facts in Europe during his vacation against railroads and steamship combines composing the shipping trust He has been very active in the fight for more equitable coal rates for the city. He is counsel in the suit before the public service commission against the coal-carrying railroads.

The Reading railway and other railroad companies are represented on the university's board of trustees.

In 1911 the Wharton school faculty unanimously recommended Dr. Pierson for promotion to a full professorship When this recommendation was before the academic council of the university there was, of course, no attack made on Dr Pierson for his progressive tendencies or his public spirited activities The attack on Dr. Pierson was masked as the attack on all other progressive teachers has been masked Attack Made on Doctor Pierson.

Provost Smith stated to the academic council that he was obliged to oppose Dr Pierson's promotion because Dr Pierson had been guilty of an attack

CIVIC LEAGUE PROPOSES CHANGES IN ORDINANCE

Would Have Vestibules of Street Cars Heated and Better Ventilation; Council Says No Change

The Civic league yesterday presented a communication to the city council, protesting against an ordinance introduced recently to regulate the heating of street cars. The league suggested that provision be made in the ordinance to provide for heating the vestibules and for proper ventilation.

Commissioner Johnson declared the proposed amendment ridiculous, and said that the ordinance meets with the approval of the street car company. "There would be just as much sense in asking the Civic league to turn off the heat in the room where they meet," he said.

Mayor McKesson said that it would be impossible to enforce an ordinance regulating the ventilation. He informed the league representatives that the question of providing for the comfort of the motormen was covered fully in the ordinance.

Locals 1662, 3051 and 2170 of the United Mine Workers of America, all located in the Pikes Peak region, passed the following set of resolutions at a meeting held Tuesday night:

Whereas, There is a coal miners' strike now on in the state of Colorado which has been in effect since September 23, 1913; and,

Whereas, The governor of Colorado has shown his attitude by sending the military into the southern coal fields and they have guarded and protected strikebreakers that were imported from foreign states, which is contrary to the laws of Colorado; and,

Whereas, They have abused and mistreated, arrested and even deported our people without cause; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of locals 1662, 3051 and 2170 of the U. M. W. of A. of El Paso county, state of Colorado, in joint meeting assembled, hereby deplore and condemn the actions of Governor Elias M. Ammons, General Chase, Major Boughton and their subordinate officers in depriving citizens of this state of the rights granted to them by the constitution of the state of Colorado and the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That we condemn the action of the military in deporting Mother Jones from Trinidad; also of the actions of the so-called Taxpayers league of Routt county, in deporting and threatening to deport our members from the town of Oak Creek; and be it further

Resolved, That we urge the executive board of the Colorado State Federation of Labor to circulate the recall petition against Governor Elias M. Ammons as soon as possible.

HOLD PRIVATE VIEW OF LOWELL'S DRAWINGS TODAY

Art Society to See Work of Famous Artist; Open to Public Tomorrow

The exhibit of original drawings by Orson Lowell hung on the second floor of the Federal building will be viewed privately from 3 to 6 o'clock this afternoon by members of the Colorado Springs Art society. It was thought the effort of the society that the drawings were brought to this city and accordingly the first view of the exhibit will be accorded to members exclusively. More than 150 drawings have been hung in three rooms on the second floor of the postoffice by Leslie J. Skelton and his associates of the hanging committee. The exhibit will be opened to the public tomorrow morning and continue for two weeks.

The custom of holding a private view for members of the Art Society was inaugurated last year when the first exhibit was held under its auspices. Last year, however, the reception was held in the evening. The change to the afternoon will enable the members to see the pictures in the true light of the daytime.

Orson Lowell, whose drawings are on exhibit, is one of the chief contributors of satire and humor subjects to Life, the leading magazine of its kind in America, if not in the world. His work is largely in pen and ink although a few pictures in oil are to be exhibited here. He depicts the follies and idiosyncracies of the rich class of America.

The board of trustees of the society will form a reception line this afternoon, including Judge Horace G. Lunt, Mrs. Clarence P. Dodge, Mrs. Etienne Ritter, Mrs. William C. Sturgis, Mrs. Charles A. Baldwin, Percy Hagerman, Leslie J. Skelton, Henry Russell Wray, and the Rev. Arthur N. Taft.

Portland to Resume Work on Sixteenth Level Drifts

Work was started this week by the Portland Mining company in sinking the sixteenth level in both Nos 1 and 2 shafts, and officers expect to cut the stations for this level about February 20. One shift is now at work and a second shift will be put on Monday.

On the sixteenth level the Portland company opened up a large body of ore adjacent to No 2 shaft but did not go to the expense of running long crosscuts to several large veins at points distant from No 2. In the firm belief that these veins run down to the 1,750-foot level, the company is making 150 feet between the sixteenth and seventeenth levels so as to take advantage of the additional stoping ground thus afforded. On the new level they will have 150 feet of stoping on all veins and from 250 to 400 feet of stoping ground on many, as some of the most distant veins from No 2 have not been opened with crosscuts in several levels above the seventeenth.

MOTION PICTURE ACTORS SENTENCED FOR MURDER

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan 14. Superior Judge Densmore sentenced today Thomas Green to be hanged at San Quentin Friday April 3, and Paul Case to serve life imprisonment in that penitentiary. They are the two moving picture actors convicted of having robbed the Palo Verde bank at Blythe, Cal, on December 1, 1913, obtaining nearly $5,000 and killing the cashier, William Bowles.

Green exonerated his companion for blame for the murder. In their trial they told of their roles in film holdups and how they planned the holdup, thinking that it must be easy in real life.

DIZZY, HEADACHY, SICK, "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

WILL REDUCE PRICES ON BITUMINOUS COAL

Dealers Announce Reduction of 75 Cents Per Ton, Beginning Today

A reduction of 75 cents a ton in all bituminous coal will become effective today, according to announcements made yesterday by local coal dealers. The reduction is general over the state but does not apply to lignite prices, for the present at least.

Changes in conditions in the Trinidad and Canon City coal districts have caused the reduction, according to the operators and dealers. Many of the mines in those districts are running normal again and the companies find that they are able to fulfill their large contracts and supply the domestic market as well. It is said that the prices will drop again when conditions warrant the reductions.

Our Business Is Your Business

THE LONESOME DOLLAR

There is nothing in this world so lonesome as a single dollar

It can't even jingle

A single dollar doesn't go very far in serving a big territory like ours (over one-fifth of the area of the United States)

A lot of little railroads, not related and not connected, can serve only a small part of the people

It's only by connecting them together with standard tracks and cars and methods that all the people can get service of a high grade

So it is in the telephone business

A lot of unrelated, isolated, local telephone exchanges, each with different methods and equipment, could only serve a part of the people

It's only by joining them together with uniform methods and equipment that all the people can best be served

Yet each little railroad and each local telephone exchange requires more money than one man can furnish

It's only by means of the combined money of many men that the big trunk railroad and the big public serving telephone company is possible

It's only by combining a great many "lonesome dollars" that the public can best be served

That's capital

In most lines of business the investment, once made, needs no additions

In the telephone business new capital is needed every day to meet the ever increasing demands for service

In our business the construction account is never closed

In the last twelve months it cost us approximately $1,500,000.00 to make additions to our plant alone to extort $1,000 from the father of a university student, who was under arrest charged with a serious offense. Dr. Pierson's promotion was, of course, immediately vetoed.

PROMOTION DENIED TO PENN PROFESSORS

But Dr. James T. Young, the director of the Wharton school, and other progressive members of the Wharton school factulty, at once called on Provost Smith for proofs of the charges brought against Dr. Pierson. It developed that the charges were based on a telegram alleged to have been sent by Dr. Pierson as an attorney to the father of the arrested boy. In this telegram Dr. Pierson was claimed to have demanded $1,000 from the boy's father, and to have promised that for this amount he could settle the charges against the student.

It then developed that Dr Pierson took up the case of the arrested student at the request of Director Young of the Wharton school, who asked Pierson merely to look after the boy's interests until his father could come down to the city and take charge of the matter.

Upon the request of Dr Pierson, the Western Union Telegraph company then furnished Provost Smith with a certified copy of the telegram sent by Dr Pierson to the arrested boy's father. Both the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph company certified to Provost Smith that no other telegrams had been sent by Dr Pierson to the father of the arrested student.

Provost Smith admitted that he never before had seen the telegram in question and, in fact, had not investigated the charges against Dr Pierson but had relied entirely on a rumor which had reached him.

The telegram itself showed that Dr. Pierson had made no demand for $1,000 or for any other sum of money, but had merely informed the father about his son's troubles and urged him to come to Philadelphia at once to take personal charge of the case, which was serious.

Again Provost Had to Retract.

On demand from Dr Pierson, Provost Smith then went before the academic council and retracted his charges, with the statement that he had investigated them and found them groundless. Again, therefore, the pretext for refusing recommended promotion to a progressive teacher had been entirely removed, but the promotion was, nevertheless, vetoed, and, although Dr Pierson since has been recommended again and again for promotion by the Wharton school faculty, the finance committee of the board of trustees has always vetoed it.

Although the $1,000 extortion story has been completely exploded and Dr. Pierson in this respect has been granted full vindication, any one single representative of the coal trust, the railroad monopolies or the steamship trust representative on the board of trustees of the university has it in his power with his own reactionary vote forever to bar Dr Pierson from deserved promotion.

In connection with these attacks on progressive teachers at the Wharton school, the family of the founder, Joseph Wharton, and the trustees of his estate have so far expressed no opinion on the question of academic freedom.

The address on which Mr Robjent is to speak exhibits Mr. Wells' powers of prophetic vision in a startling way.

TERROR QUINTET MEETS CENTRALS TOMORROW AT 'Y'

Local Basketball Season Will Be Opened With Good Game

Pueblоans Husky and Fast, but Springs Players Feel Like Winning

The Terrors will pry the lid off the local basketball season tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock when they will meet the strong five from Central high school at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. From all reports the game should be the fastest that has been seen on a local floor for years, both schools having exceptionally strong teams this year. The Terrors on New Years day defeated the Canon City team by a close score after a hard fight and the Central team was defeated by the Canon lads a week later by a few points.

Coach Erps has put his players through a hard course in shooting baskets dribblin, and guarding and the five men now present probably the best combination that has ever worn the brown and white. Should the locals win tomorrow's contest they have only to defeat the Centennial team to get the first leg on the southern Colorado title. All of the teams play two games with each other school.

The Terror lineup will be composed of Klammedson, center, Moran, guard, Thompson, guard; Peterson, forward; Beless, forward; Sheffer, guard; Harbert, forward, Holman (captain), guard.

The Pueblo lineup comprises some athletes whose baseball prowess is well known here. The team will be as follows: Cary, center; Kuhn, and Davidsons, forwards, and Cush and Schenck, guards.

DENVER TO HAVE TWO REAL RACING MEETS; "PARIMUTUELS O. K."

Gaylord Leases Overland Track for Fall and Spring Turf Classics

New State Commission Plans a Revival of Harness Sport in Colorado

Edwin Gaylord of Cripple Creek and Denver will conduct twenty-six days of mixed harness and running racing in Denver this year.

There will be two meetings of thirteen days each at Overland park, the first from Saturday, June 13, to Saturday, June 27, inclusive. The dates of the fall meet will depend upon those of other Colorado tracks in order to avoid possible conflict.

Bookmaking and any other similar forms of gambling will not be tolerated.

Bookmaking Barred.

Those interested in the revival of racing under the state commission recently appointed by Gov. E. M. Ammons have secured what they consider competent legal advice that parimutuel machines may be used without valid objection.

There will absolutely be no attempt made to sell liquor at Overland park, which is located in a dry ward. This traffic used to be considered one of the necessary adjuncts of profit making in the past, but in the future is to be abolished under any subterfuge or pretense.

To Lease Track.

Mr. Gaylord will secure the track under lease with option of purchase from Henry M. Wolcott, the owner, and a patron of racing for many years.

The Denver track, in common with the other twenty in the state, will be operated under the security of the state racing commission, which body, upon its organization, will assume the conduct of harness and thoroughbred competition in Colorado.

This commission, the members of which are appointed for terms of from one to five years, upon organizing will appoint a secretary who will receive the nominal sum of $300 a year. He will get his salary when the tracks pay their small assessments, which must sustain the commission in its expenses.

Henry M. Wolcott, who owns the track, conducted the highest class of racing at Overland for many years. Among his efficient secretaries were Charles B. Rhodes and J. Codman. His present representative is Henry Hannington.

COLLEGE TRACK MEN TO START TRAINING WHEN SNOW IS GONE

Indoor Meet in Denver First Week in March; Five Schools to Compete

Tiger Team Handicapped for Lack of Quarters; Good Material Here

Upon the per cent of possible sunshine depends largely the fate of the Colorado college track team for the indoor meet of the conference to be held in Denver March 7. The Tigers are anxious to enter the meet and have agreed to boost the proposition but the athletes have no training quarters as yet and unless the snow leaves Washburn field and the weather becomes warmer the team cannot get into the best of condition.

Coach Rothgeb plans to have his athletes get into their suits and begin to tear up the cinders just as soon as the weather is warm enough but present indications do not point to an early start. The runners, who need hard training after the winter layoff, cannot train in the Y. M. C. A. gallery because of the hard floor. There is no other place in the city and outdoor work is an absolute necessity.

The athletes at the institution are enthusiastic over the meet and the team that will represent the Tigers will be an exceptionally strong one in all events but the hurdles and dashes. The state university team is strong in these events having record holders in the three dashes and both high and low hurdles. Denver university has Bingham, an exceptional weight man and some good long distance runners. The Mines track prospects are not the best and never have been very promising. The Aggies material is not especially strong.

DUCRAY AND GION PROMISE SPEEDY WRESTLING TONIGHT

Matmen Ready for Call; Gion Believes He Can Get Even for Falls Duke Has Won in Past

Frank DuCray, Colorado light heavyweight champion wrestler, and George Gion, champion of the same class of Canada, will meet on the Opera house mat tonight at 8:30 o'clock for a finish match, two falls out of three. Both men have been putting in some hard training work and the event should prove a good one for lovers of the wrestling game.

DuCray wrestled the Canadian in Grand Junction two years ago and threw him, but not until after two hours of strenuous work. Gion has developed since that time and although he has a weight advantage over the native son he has nothing on the science and speed that several years of professional work have given DuCray.

B. B. McReynolds will referee the bout.

CRIPPLE CREEK IS BEHIND LEAGUE BALL PROPOSITION

District Would Support One Team, Say Fans; Expect Definite Word on Plans Saturday

The Cripple Creek district is enthusiastically behind the movement for a Colorado State league, according to communications from that place. Arthur Lewis included the district in his list of letters and found that the mining camps are anxious to have a professional team to represent the entire district.

The Cripple Creek boosters plan to send a representative to Colorado Springs Saturday when the proposition will be discussed. The district has always been a good booster for baseball and the fans turn out generously.

No definite word has been received from the towns in southern Colorado, but when the state commercial executives meet here Saturday the decision of the majority of the towns proposed for the circuit will be known.

JOHNSON SIGNS TO FIGHT MORAN IN PARIS IN JUNE

Gets $35,000 for His Part of Battle; Men Drink Champagne While Movie Men Take Pictures.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight pugilist, and Frank Moran, the Pittsburg heavyweight, today signed articles for a 20-round bout for the championship of the world, to be fought on the day of or before the Paris grand prix race, during the first or second week of June, this year.

Johnson was handed a check for $35,000 by Charles McCarthy, representing a group of American sporting men, while Moran was guaranteed $5,000.

This fight is to take place in Paris.

Johnson agreed not to fight anybody else before meeting Moran in the ring and if the colored pugilist fails to fight, he is to forfeit the $35,000, except the sum of $5,000 for his training expenses.

The signatures to the articles were finally effected in the presence of many managers, promoters, boxing men and other sportsmen, and Johnson and Moran then drank each other's health in goblets of champagne.

Three moving picture machines were working during the negotiations.

Six Bouts Decided in N. Y. Wrestling Revival

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The first series of the international elimination wrestling tournament was held at Madison Square Garden tonight. Six bouts, catch-as-catch-can style, were contested. The next series will be held here March 2. The results of tonight's bouts follow:

Bernard Hanse, Norway, defeated Paul Alvarez, Spain, in 23 minutes with a crotch and a half Nelson hold.

Blabek Zbyszko, Poland, defeated John McLaughlin, Ireland, in 7 minutes with a throat and crotch hold.

John Hdaracken, America, defeated George Sandelli, Greece, in 8 minutes with a throat and crotch hold.

Mamutoff, Russia, defeated Paul Samson, Germany, in 28 minutes when Samson quit claiming injury.

Gustav Fristensky, Bohemia, defeated George Lurich, Russia, in 35 minutes with a back arm and neck hold.

Alexander Aberg, Finland, defeated Mort Henderson, America, in 34 minutes with a half Nelson and back arm hold.

MANDOT AND CANADIAN DRAW IN FAST FIGHT

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 14.—Joe Mandot of New Orleans and Johnny Griffith of Akron tonight fought a fast eight-round draw. Griffith, using his left hand with telling effect, held a lead for six rounds but the New Orleans lightweight rallied fiercely and succeeded in overcoming the advantage. The men slugged all the way but neither scored a knockdown.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—In the first hour of trading today stocks advanced vigorously. Prior to that time the movement was narrow and uncertain, with a slow downward trend in the early session. Closing prices showed good gains among the representative shares with advances of 2 to 4 points in a few instances.

Petroleum stocks developed sharply. Texas company sold 10 points under its high record of a few days ago and Mexican Petroleum was depressed nearly five points. Bear selling was based ostensibly on rumors regarding the attitude of the Washington administration regarding antitrust legislation. By the same process of reasoning the late advance was ascribed to dispatches from the capital alleging that the position of the president after all would be less at variance with the views of the street than had been expected. It was obvious that the late improvement was due to some extent at least to a change of heart among professional traders. The resistance of the market to pressure early in the day gave convincing evidence of underlying strength.

In the bond market business was on an increasing scale at higher prices.

Passing of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis common dividend was not unexpected and did not affect the stock, which rose 1¾ points.

Iron trade reviews, while hopeful in tone, failed to confirm recent reports of resumption of business on a large scale. It was said nevertheless that the outlook was definitely better.

Bonds were firm. Total sales par value $3,475,000.

Panama 3's advanced ¼ on call.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—It was estimated that all of the surplus wheat in the United States and Canada will be required by importing countries had a bullish effect today on prices. The market closed strong at the top figures of the season, ⅞c above last night. Other staples, too, all made a net gain—corn 1c to 1⅛c, oats ⅛c to ⅝c and provisions 1½c to 20c.

Wheat gathered strength from the start. Export sales continued and there were signs that foreign buying here had spread out into future deliveries, July in particular. One of the incentives to purchase was injury said to have resulted from alternate freezing and thawing in some sections of the winter crop belt, notably Kansas. Furthermore, rain was said to be delaying and spoiling shipments in Argentina. Threshing returns in Australia were unsatisfactory and navigation was reported to have closed on the Danube.

The strongest swell in wheat came after the issuance of figures indicating that Europe is consuming a million bushels a week more than the record breaking totals a year ago. Heavy offerings at the extreme advance were taken well, as freely indeed as at any time since the May price was at 90c.

Important interests in the corn trade changed front today and covered several million bushels on an advancing market. The supply of old Argentina corn was said, to be exhausted, and the new crop unavailable. Europeans were bidding for corn from the United States, the first time in a long while. Canceling of hedges by shippers tended to frighten shorts, although cash sales today were not large. Oats joined in the strength of other grain. Demand, however, was only fair.

Provisions climbed in company with hogs and corn. Top figures of the day, though, were not maintained, prices receding somewhat owing to holders attempting to realize profits.

MAGNETIC HEALERS

ANNA L. TRONE
THE FAMOUS HEALER

ALL DISEASES TREATED WITH GREAT SUCCESS

She makes the lame walk; the blind see, and restores the paralyzed to perfect health and usefulness.

Medical Doctors Are Astonished at Her Wonderful Work.

P. N. Bennett of Langdon, N. D., was paralysed, unable to move any part of his body except turning his head, was almost blind, had to be fed like a babe, medical doctors could give no aid whatever. Five weeks' treatment by Mrs. Trone restored him. He is a giant of strength and perfect health today. C. M. Ortan, Langdon, N. D., 64 years of age, had been paralyzed years, doctors in California, Dakota and elsewhere said it was as useless to try to restore him as to put life into a stone; neighbors and friends were willing to bet up to $10,000 that Mrs. Trone or anybody else could not help him so he could walk, a few weeks later he walked nine blocks. Mrs. Dawley, Northfield, Minn., suffered with asthma 22 years, spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and specialists to no avail; four weeks' treatment by Mrs. Trone, she says, cured her completely. Mrs. Hugh Murray, Owatonna, Minn., suffered with rheumatism 17 years, had 10 treatments of Mrs. Trone a year ago and has had no rheumatism since. Such accounts could be continued if space was unlimited, but those wishing further information should send for her book of testimonials, which is free for the asking. Special rates to first ten patients and free consultation this coming week.

COLDS TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY

Intelligent people realize that common colds should be treated promptly. If there is sneezing, with chilliness and hoarseness, tickling throat and coughing, the latter especially annoying at bedtime, use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It is effective, pleasant to take, checks a cold, stops the cough which causes loss of sleep, and lowers the vital resistance to disease. Remember the name, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and avoid substitutes. Robinson Drug Co. Adv

Vienna Bread

5c and 10c

How delicious is our pure, fresh Vienna bread! It's made by a master-baker, but even he couldn't make good bread out of poor materials.

It's the purity of the flour, the freshness of the yeast and the cleanliness of every process, coupled with an expert knowledge of oven heat that makes our bread so superior.

If you are ever troubled with biliousness or constipation you will be interested in the statement of R. F. Erwin, Peru, Ind. "The Land That Lures"

Most of us think of the Pacific Northwest as a land of snow and cold at this time of the year.

This is a mistaken impression for the whole west coast of our country is kept at an even temperature the year round by the Japan Current of the Pacific.

In January the vegetation everywhere is green and inviting. The beautiful cities of Portland, Tacoma and Seattle are especially attractive now.

Quick and convenient service to the Northwest is provided by the

Daily Fashion Hints

Copyright. 1914, by The Criterion of Fashion.

NEW YORK, January 15th, 1914.

Dear Mary:—

"For we, which now behold these present days,
Have eyes to wonder, but lack tongue to praise."

If it again becomes fashionable to dress "a la sauvage" as in Directoire days, with nothing between us and the cold, cold world but a suit of pink tricot and a veil, what a mad wild rush there will be to gymnasiums, Turkish baths and all the various places where they guarantee to build you up or take you down as the case may be. It is quite possible that we may ever see again a bright eye and rosy cheek that is not entirely a work of art.

We have not yet arrived at the [illegible] toe stage of the "[illegible]" period but we are on our way. Sleeves have gone by the board and the arm which has heretofore been modestly covered is entirely en dishabille. Soon stockings and shoes will become irksome and will be discarded in favor of the sandal or cothurn laced half way up the leg and finished with a tassel of gold or precious stones. But we little brother [illegible] we should worry!

Choose your design dear; will it be a la Flore, Diane or Aurore?

Yours [illegible],

ANGE[illegible]
